Contents

1 Introduction .....	1
2 The Syntactic Relations Between Conjuncts .....	2
2.1 The Merger of a Coordinator and One of the Conjuncts .....	2
2.2 The Merger of a J-Set with the Other Conjunct .....	6
2.3 Structure Sharing of Coordinate and Modification Constructions .....	10
2.3.1 The Categorical Decisiveness of a Single Conjunct
2.3.2 Syntactic Optionality
2.3.3 Stackability
2.3.4 Alternation Possibilities between Conjuncts and Modifiers
2.3.5 The Position Flexibility of the J-Set
2.4 Summary .....	18
3 More About the Syntax of Coordinators .....	19
3.1 Possible C-Selection of Coordinators .....	20
3.2 The Positions of Coordinators .....	20
3.2.1 Coordinators between Conjuncts: Linker
3.2.2 Null and Additional Coordinators in Binary Coordination
3.3 Coordinators in Non-Minimal Coordinate Constructions .....	26
3.3.1 Syntagmatic Varieties of Coordinators
3.3.2 Coordinators in Larger Coordinate Constructions
3.4 Shared Properties of Coordinators and Modification Markers .....	33
3.5 Summary .....	36
4 Removing Construction-Specific Syntactic Operations .....	36
4.1 Understanding the External Merge in Coordination .....	36
4.1.1 A Wide Range of the Categories and Category Levels of Conjuncts
4.1.2 Categorical Relations between Conjuncts and the RPR
4.2 Understanding the Internal Merge in Coordination .....	42
4.2.1 CC
4.2.2 EC
4.3 Summary .....	44
5 Movement Modes in Deriving Certain Coordinate Constructions .....	44
5.1 Across the Board Construction .....	45
5.1.1 Three Types
5.1.2 Non-Unified Analysis of Various ATB Dependencies
5.1.3 Brief Comments on Other Analyses of the I-ATB Constructions
5.2 From Non-Conjuncts to Conjuncts: The Heterofunctional Coordination .....	51
5.3 From Conjuncts to Non-Conjuncts: The Split Argument Construction .....	53
5.3.1 Deriving Split Argument Constructions via Conjunct Raising
5.3.2 A Comparison with the Derivation of Comitatives
5.4 From Conjuncts to Parts of Conjuncts: The Modifier-Sharing Construction .....	58
5.5 From Parts of Conjuncts to Conjuncts: The Interwoven Dependency Construction .....	62
5.6 Summary .....	65
6 Conclusions and Theoretical Considerations .....	65
