

PART VI
Appendices to SoD

Taylor & Francis

Taylor & Francis Group

<http://taylorandfrancis.com>

Appendix I:
Complete ToC

Preface and acknowledgments	1
I. General introduction	2
II. Main objective	2
III. Intended readership	2
IV. Object of description	3
A. Syntax	3
B. Dutch	4
V. The data collection	7
A. Competence and performance	8
B. What kind of data is needed for competence research?	10
C. The validity of introspection data	12
D. How intuitionist researchers compile data sets for their research	13
E. What kind of data are found in corpora?	15
F. The relation between competence and corpus research	15
VI. Organization of the material	16
A. Characterization and classification	16
B. Internal syntax	17
C. External syntax	20
VII. History of the project	20
VIII. Acknowledgments	21

PART IVerbs and verb phrases*25

Introduction to part I	29
I. Characterization and classification (Chapter 1)	29
II. Argument structures (Chapter 2)	29
III. Verb-frame alternations (Chapter 3)	32
IV. Clausal/verbal complements (Chapter 4 to Chapter 7)	33
D. Selection of clauses and verb phrases (Chapter 4)	33
E. Argument and complementive clauses (Chapter 5)	33
F. Complements of non-main verbs (Chapter 6)	35
G. Verb clustering (Chapter 7)	36
V. Modification (Chapter 8)	37
VI. Word Order (Chapter 9 to Chapter 13)	38
VII. Syntactic uses of verbal projections	38

Chapter 1Verbs: characterization and classification 41*Introduction 44*1.1. General characterization 44

I. Semantic characterization 44

II. Morphological characterization 45

III. Syntactic characterization 46

1.2. Verb classifications 491.2.1. Main and non-main verbs 49

I. Main verbs 49

II. Non-main verbs 51

1.2.2. Syntactic classification of main verbs 53

I. Lexical properties of verbs 53

A. Subcategorization 53

B. Semantic selection 54

C. Categorical selection 56

D. Verb-frame alternations 58

II. Basic classification of main verbs 58

A. Monadic, dyadic and triadic verbs 58

B. Unaccusative verbs 59

C. Interim conclusion 62

D. Undative verbs 63

III. Conclusion 65

1.2.3. Semantic classification of main verbs 66

I. Aktionsart: Vendler's aspectual event classification 66

A. Vendler's Classification 67

B. What did Vendler classify? 71

C. Alternative approaches to Vendler's classification 73

II. Participant roles in events 76

III. Extensions of Vendler's four-way distinction 80

A. [±TIME EXTENSION] 80

B. [±CONTROL] 82

IV. Other semantic classifications 84

1.2.4. Linking the syntactic and semantic classifications 84

I. Valuing classifications 84

II. Some correspondences 86

A. Verbs with one argument 87

B. Verbs with two arguments 88

C. Verbs with three arguments 90

D. Conclusion 91

1.2.5. Conclusion 911.3. Inflection 91

I. Verb stem 92

II. Inflection of finite verbs 94

A. Present tense 95

B. Past tense 97

III. Inflection of non-finite verbs 98

A. Infinitives 98

B. Past/passive participles 102

C. Present participles 106

IV. Regular versus irregular verbs 107

1.4.	Mood	109
1.4.1.	Indicative	109
1.4.2.	Imperative	110
	I. Meaning of the imperative	110
	A. Directive use	110
	B. Wishes and curses	112
	C. Use in generic statements	113
	II. Morphosyntactic properties of the imperative	116
	A. Bare finite imperatives (stem + -Ø/-t), i.e. without a subject	117
	B. Finite imperatives with overt subjects	120
	C. Success imperatives: finite imperatives + ze	124
	D. Forum imperatives: finite imperatives + forum particle op	126
	E. Infinitival subjectless imperative: stem + -en	132
	F. Participial imperatives	135
	G. Other means of expressing imperative meaning	138
1.4.3.	Subjunctive	138
	I. Present subjunctive ending in -e	139
	II. Past subjunctive	140
1.5.	Tense, epistemic modality and aspect	143
1.5.1.	Tense	144
	I. Binary tense theory: time from a linguistic perspective	145
	A. The present-tense interval	145
	B. The four present tenses defined by binary tense theory	149
	C. The past-tense interval	154
	D. The four past tenses defined by binary tense theory	156
	E. The choice between present and past: a matter of perspective	159
	II. A comparison with Reichenbach's approach	167
	III. Conclusion	170
1.5.2.	Epistemic modality	171
	I. The epistemic modal verbs moeten 'must' and kunnen 'may'	171
	II. The verb zullen 'will': future auxiliary or epistemic modal?	176
	A. The verb zullen is not homonymous	177
	B. The verb zullen is not a future auxiliary	179
	C. The meaning contribution of zullen	182
	III. Future reference and pragmatics	189
	IV. Conclusion	191
1.5.3.	Aspect	192
	I. Progressive/continuous aspect	192
	II. Inchoative and terminative aspect	198
	III. Prospective aspect	200
1.5.4.	The Dutch verbal tense system	202
1.5.4.1.	The uses of the simple tenses	204
	I. Default use	205
	II. Non-linguistic context: monitoring of k	206
	III. Adverbial modification	206
	IV. Multiple events	208
	V. Habitual and generic clauses	209
	VI. Conditionals and hypotheticals	209
	VII. Conditionals and counterfactuals	210
	VIII. Counterfactuals and epistemic modality	211
	IX. Denial of appropriateness of a nominal description	212
	X. Conclusion	212

1.5.4.2.	The uses of the perfect tenses	213
	I. Default use	213
	II. Non-linguistic context: monitoring of k	214
	III. Adverbial modification and Aktionsart	216
	A. Adverbial modification	216
	B. Aktionsart	219
	IV. Multiple events	221
	V. Habitual and generic clauses	221
	VI. Conditionals and hypotheticals	222
	VII. Conditionals and counterfactuals	223
	VIII. Denial of the appropriateness of a nominal description	224
	IX. Conclusion	225
1.6.	Bibliographical notes	225

Chapter 2Projection of verb phrases I: Argument structure 233

Introduction	238
I. Internal and external arguments	238
II. Thematic roles	238
III. The category of the complement of the verb	239
IV. Secondary predication	240
V. Organization of the chapter	241
2.1. Nominal arguments	241
2.1.1. Impersonal verbs	243
2.1.2. Intransitive, transitive and monadic unaccusative verbs	245
I. General introduction	247
A. Transitive verbs	247
B. Intransitive verbs	248
C. Unaccusative verbs	249
D. The gradual nature of the distinction between transitive and intransitive verbs	249
II. Distinguishing intransitive from unaccusative verbs	250
A. Thematic role of the subject	250
B. ER-nominalization	251
C. Auxiliary selection	253
D. Attributive use of the participle	254
E. (Impersonal) passive	256
F. Wat-voor split	258
G. Summary	259
III. Two types of monadic unaccusative verbs	260
A. Thematic role of the subject	261
B. ER-nominalization	262
C. Auxiliary selection	263
D. Attributive use of the past participle	264
E. Impersonal passive	265
F. Wat-voor split	265
G. Conclusion	265
IV. More on auxiliary selection and unaccusativity	265
V. Conclusion	268
2.1.3. Ditransitive and dyadic unaccusative (NOM-DAT) verbs	268
I. General introduction	269
A. Ditransitive (double object) verbs	270
B. NOM-DAT verbs	271
C. Two types of NOM-DAT verbs	272
D. Some miscellaneous remarks on NOM-DAT verbs	273
II. Properties of ditransitive and NOM-DAT verbs	274
A. Thematic role of the subject	274
B. ER-nominalization	275
C. Auxiliary selection	276
D. Attributive use of the past/passive participle	277
E. (Impersonal) passive	278
F. Argument order (nominative-dative inversion)	279
G. Wat-voor split	282
H. Summary	285
III. A note on dative subjects	286
2.1.4. Undative verbs	292
I. The verb krijgen 'to get'	292

	A. ER-nominalization, imperative, and passivization	293
	B. Idiomatic and inalienable possession constructions	294
	C. Krijgen -passive construction	296
	II. The verbs hebben 'to have' and houden 'to keep'	297
	A. The use of van -PPs	297
	B. The verb hebben 'to have'	297
	C. The verb houden 'to keep'	299
	III. Verbs of cognition and other cases	300
2.1.5.	A possible problem: transitive verbs taking the auxiliary zijn	301
2.1.6.	Summary	303
2.2.	Complementives (secondary predicates)	304
2.2.1.	General restrictions on complementives	305
	I. Construction types	306
	II. The syntactic category of the complementive	306
	III. The position of the complementive	309
	A. Position relative to the clause-final verbs	309
	B. Scrambling	310
	C. Wh -movement in topicalization constructions and questions	310
	IV. Co-occurrence restrictions on complementives	311
	V. Conclusion	313
2.2.2.	Non-resultative constructions	313
	I. The regular copular construction	313
	II. The semi-copular construction	315
	III. The vinden -construction	316
2.2.3.	Resultative constructions	317
	I. Verbs without an internal argument	318
	A. Intransitive verbs	318
	B. Impersonal (weather) verbs	322
	II. Verbs with one internal argument	325
	A. Transitive verbs	325
	B. Unaccusative verbs	331
	C. Unclear cases: verbs with an obligatory complementive	340
	III. Verbs with two internal arguments	344
	A. Ditransitive verbs	344
	B. NOM-DAT verbs	347
	C. Undative verbs	348
	IV. Summary	348
2.2.4.	The structure of complementive constructions	349
2.3.	PP-complements (prepositional objects)	350
2.3.1.	General introduction	354
	I. The verb and the preposition form a semantic unit	354
	II. A PP-complement cannot be replaced by adverbial proforms	356
	III. The preposition has no or a restricted paradigm	356
	IV. A PP-complement cannot be modified	358
	V. R-extraction	358
	VI. Anticipatory pronominal PP-complements	360
	VII. Syntactic tests for distinguishing PP-complements and adverbial PPs	362
	A. Position in the middle field of the clause	362
	B. Pseudo-cleft sentences	363
	C. The adverbial ... en PRONOUN doet dat test	364
	VIII. Prepositional complements versus prepositional predicates	366

2.3.2.	Intransitive, transitive and unaccusative prepositional object verbs	366
I.	Transitive prepositional object verbs	367
A.	ER-nominalization	368
B.	Auxiliary selection	369
C.	Attributive use of participles	369
D.	Passive	370
E.	The order of the internal arguments	370
II.	Intransitive and unaccusative prepositional object verbs	371
A.	ER-nominalization	373
B.	Auxiliary selection	373
C.	Attributive use of the past/passive and present participles	374
D.	Impersonal passive	375
E.	Conclusion	376
III.	A second class of unaccusative PO-verb?	376
A.	ER-nominalization	377
B.	Auxiliary selection	377
C.	Attributive and predicative use of the participles	378
D.	Impersonal passive	379
E.	Conclusion	379
IV.	A problematic case	380
A.	ER-nominalization	380
B.	Auxiliary selection	381
C.	Attributive and predicative use of the past/passive participle	381
D.	Impersonal passive	382
E.	Conclusion	382
2.3.3.	NP-PP alternations	382
I.	Alternations between transitive verbs and intransitive PO-verbs	382
A.	ER-nominalization	383
B.	Auxiliary selection	384
C.	Attributive use of the past/passive participle	384
D.	Impersonal passive	384
E.	Conclusion	385
II.	PO-verbs with an indirect object	385
A.	ER-nominalization	385
B.	Auxiliary selection	386
C.	Attributive use of the participles	386
D.	(Impersonal) passive	386
E.	The order of the complements	388
F.	Conclusion	388
2.3.4.	Special and problematic cases	388
I.	Verbs with two PP-complements?	389
II.	Modal verbs selecting a prepositional complement	394
III.	Verbal expressions with a prepositional complement	394
2.4.	AP-complements	397
I.	Measure verbs	398
II.	The verbs hebben/krijgen	400
III.	The verb wonen 'to live/reside'	400
IV.	Conclusion	400
2.5.	Special verbs	401
2.5.1.	Psychological verbs	401
2.5.1.1.	General introduction	401
I.	The arguments of psychological predicates	401
A.	Experiencer	402
B.	Target and subject matter of emotion	402

	C. Causer and cause of emotion	402
	D. The syntactic realization of the thematic roles of psych-predicates	403
	II. Different types of psych-verbs	404
	A. Subject-experiencer psych-verbs	405
	B. Object-experiencer psych-verbs	405
	III. Verb-frame alternations	406
2.5.1.2.	Subject-experiencer psych-verbs	407
	I. Intransitive subject-experiencer psych-verbs	408
	II. Transitive subject-experiencer psych-verbs	410
	III. Unaccusative subject-experiencer psych-verbs	413
	IV. Undative subject-experiencer psych-constructions	414
	V. Conclusion	415
2.5.1.3.	Object-experiencer psych-verbs	416
	I. NOM-DAT psych-verbs	417
	II. Causative (transitive and NOM-ACC) psych-verbs	417
	A. The verb does not select an object of emotion	418
	B. The verb is possibly a derived form	419
	C. The thematic of the subject	422
	D. Passive	425
	E. Attributive and predicative use of present participles	427
	F. Attributive and predicative use of the past/passive participle	430
	G. Argument order	434
	H. Binding	436
	I. Nominalization	438
	J. Conclusion	439
	III. Periphrastic causative psychological constructions	439
	A. The thematic roles of the arguments in the periphrastic construction	440
	B. Passivization	442
	C. Argument order	442
	D. Binding	442
	E. Conclusion	443
	F. Two possibly related constructions with a psychological noun	443
	IV. Inherently reflexive psych-verbs	446
	V. A note on causative non-experiencer object verbs	448
2.5.2.	Inherently reflexive verbs	449
	I. On the term inherent reflexivity	451
	II. The syntactic function of the simplex reflexive	453
	A. Case absorption	454
	B. Reflexive causative-inchoative alternation (Anti-causativization)	456
	C. Reflexive psych-verb constructions	459
	D. Reflexive middle construction	460
	E. Conclusion	464
	III. Some special cases	464
	A. Dative reflexives	464
	B. Inherently reflexive verbs prefixed with over- and ver-	465
	C. Idioms	466
	IV. Summary	466
2.6.	Bibliographical notes	467

Chapter 3Projection of verb phrases II: Verb-frame alternations 475*Introduction 479*3.1. Main types of verb-frame alternation 479*I. Alternations involving the external argument 479*A. Passivization 479*B. Middle formation 480*C. Causative alternation 481*II. Alternations involving internal arguments: DP/PP alternations 481*III. Alternations that will not be discussed in this chapter 483*3.2. Alternations involving the external argument 484*3.2.1. Passivization 484*3.2.1.1. General properties of passives 486*I. Demotion of the external argument 486*II. The implicit agent argument 487*III. Additional restrictions on the demoted subject? 491*A. Animacy of the demoted subject 491*B. Agentivity of the subject 493*C. Controllability by the subject 494*D. Conclusion 494*IV. The derived subject: externalization of the internal argument? 495*V. The participle form of the main verb 496*VI. A note on adjectival passives 497*3.2.1.2. The impersonal worden/zijn-passive 498*I. Verbs in the impersonal passive construction 498*II. Exceptional behavior of unaccusative verbs 500*A. Unaccusative verbs used as intransitives 500*B. Non-eventive use of impersonal passives 501*C. Questions and exclamatives with impersonal passives 501*D. Exceptional verbs 501*3.2.1.3. The regular (worden) passive 502*I. Verbs entering the regular passive 502*A. Verbs with an agentive subject 502*B. Verbs with a causer/cause subject 503*C. Other verbs 505*II. The derived subject of the regular passive 507*A. The thematic role of the derived subject 507*B. Placement of the derived subject (nominative-dative inversion) 508*C. Grammatical function of the promoted object in the active clause 509*III. Meaning differences between active and passive sentences 515*A. The interpretation of subject-oriented adverbs 516*B. Binding 516*C. Scope 517*IV. Special cases of the regular passive 518*A. Constructions with modal verbs 518*B. Intransitive PO-verbs 519*C. AcI-constructions 520*D. The geacht worden-construction 521

3.2.1.4.	The krijgen -passive	522
	I. The verb	523
	A. The indirect object is the recipient/goal argument	524
	B. The indirect object is the source	526
	C. The indirect object is a benefactive	527
	D. The indirect object is a possessor	528
	E. A special case of the krijgen -passive	528
	F. A putative case of krijgen -passivization	529
	G. Conclusion	530
	II. The role of the auxiliary	530
	III. The demoted subject	533
3.2.2.	Middle Formation	534
3.2.2.1.	General properties of middle constructions	534
	I. The regular middle construction	534
	II. The adjunct middle construction	535
	III. The impersonal middle construction	535
	IV. The reflexive middle construction	535
	V. General properties of middles	535
3.2.2.2.	The regular middle construction	536
	I. Properties of regular middles	537
	A. The input verb is transitive	537
	B. The meaning of the regular middle construction	539
	C. The evaluative modifier	542
	D. Semantic restrictions on the arguments of the input verb	545
	E. Resultative middles; the thematic role of the derived subject	547
	F. Non-generic uses of the regular middle construction	550
	II. Regular middles and unaccusative constructions	551
	A. Auxiliary selection	553
	B. Predicative and attributive use of the past participle	553
	C. Tense and aspect	555
	D. Modifiers like automatisch 'automatically' and vanzelf 'spontaneously'	556
	E. Summary and application of the tests	556
	III. Other constructions resembling the regular middle	558
	A. Easy-to-please construction	559
	B. Modal infinitive	560
3.2.2.3.	The adjunct middle construction	561
	I. The input verb is (pseudo-)intransitive	561
	II. The derived subject	563
	III. The evaluative modifier	564
	IV. Attributive and predicative use of past/present participles	565
	V. Miscellaneous topics	566
	A. Adjunct middles with objects?	566
	B. Adjunct middles with modifiers that do not take an experiencer?	567
	C. Easy-to-please construction	568
3.2.2.4.	The impersonal middle construction	571
	I. The input verb is (pseudo-)intransitive	572
	II. The non-referential pronoun het 'it'	573
	III. The adverbial phrase	576
	IV. The evaluative modifier	577
3.2.2.5.	The reflexive middle construction	578
	I. Other reflexive laten -constructions	579
	II. Meaning	581
	III. The implied experiencer and agent	582

IV.	The verbs embedded under laten 'to let'	583
A.	Transitive verbs	583
B.	Intransitive and monadic unaccusative verbs	584
C.	PO-verbs	584
D.	Verbs with a complementive	585
E.	Ditransitive verbs	585
V.	The evaluative modifier	586
VI.	The simplex reflexive pronoun	587
3.2.2.6.	Summary	588
3.2.3.	Causative alternation	588
3.3.	Alternations of noun phrases and PPs	593
3.3.1.	Dative/PP alternations (dative shift)	594
3.3.1.1.	Dative alternation with aan -PPs (recipients)	595
I.	Meaning differences	595
II.	Other factors affecting the alternation	600
III.	A sample of double object verbs (not) allowing the alternation	603
IV.	The syntactic status of the periphrastic recipient	604
3.3.1.2.	Dative alternation with naar -PPs (goals)	606
I.	Meaning differences	606
II.	The syntactic function of the naar -PP	607
III.	The element toe	608
IV.	A sample of double object verbs (not) allowing the alternation	609
V.	Conclusion	610
3.3.1.3.	Dative alternation with van -PPs (sources)	611
3.3.1.4.	Dative alternation with bij -PPs (possessors)	612
I.	The dative possessor	613
A.	The possessive dative requires the presence of a predicative locational PP	613
B.	The dative phrase expresses inalienable possession	615
C.	The dative possessor is animate	616
II.	The possessive bij -PP	617
III.	The complementive locational PP	619
IV.	The syntactic structure of possessive bij -PP constructions	620
A.	The possessive bij -PP and the locational PP form a constituent	621
B.	The internal structure of string [bij -PP loc-PP]	623
C.	R-extraction from the PPs	624
V.	The verb	626
A.	Transitive verbs denoting a change of location	626
B.	Motion verbs	627
C.	Location verbs	628
D.	Verbs with an optional prepositional complementive	629
VI.	Non-dative inalienable possessors	630
A.	Nominative inalienable possessors	631
B.	Accusative inalienable possessors	632
C.	Apparent cases of nominative inalienable possessors	635
3.3.1.5.	Dative alternation with voor -PPs (benefactives)	637
3.3.1.6.	Conclusion	639
3.3.2.	Accusative/PP alternations	640
I.	Accusative/PP alternation	641
II.	Locative alternation (type I)	643
A.	The prefixes be- , ver- and ont-	644
B.	The syntactic status of the prefix	652

3.3.3.	Nominative/PP alternations	658
	I. Alternations with predicative PPs	659
	II. Locative alternation (type II)	660
	A. The non-referential pronoun het 'it'	661
	B. The locational PP functions as the logical subject of the clause	662
	C. The van -PP	663
	D. The meaning of the constructions	664
	E. Productivity	667
	III. Alternations with adverbial PPs	668
3.4.	Some apparent cases of verb-frame alternation	671
3.5.	Bibliographical notes	674

Chapter 4Projection of verb phrases IIIa: Selected clauses/verb phrases (introduction) 683

Introduction	684
4.1. Semantic types of finite argument clauses	687
4.2. Finite and infinitival argument clauses	690
4.3. Control properties of verbs selecting an infinitival clause	694
4.4. Three main types of infinitival argument clauses	696
4.4.1. Om + te-infinitivals	696
4.4.2. Bare infinitivals	698
I. The infinitive verb is not preceded by te	698
II. Verb clustering	698
III. The infinitivus-pro-participio effect	699
IV. Three subtypes of bare infinitival clauses	699
A. Accusativus-cum-infinitivo infinitivals	700
B. Control infinitivals	701
C. Subject-raising infinitivals	702
D. Conclusion	704
4.4.3. Te-infinitivals	705
I. Opaque te -infinitivals	706
II. Transparent te -infinitivals	707
III. Semi-transparent te -infinitivals	708
IV. Possible problems with the classification of te -infinitivals	709
4.5. Non-main verbs	710
I. Perfect and passive auxiliaries	711
II. Modal/aspectual verbs	712
III. Semi-aspectual verbs	713
IV. Non-main verbs are part of a verbal complex	714
V. Placement of the non-main verb in the clause	715
VI. Conclusion	715
4.6. The distinction between main and non-main verbs	716
I. Mono versus biclausal behavior	716
II. The predicative nature of the verb	718
III. Why we discuss non-main verb constructions as subcases of complementation	721
IV. Conclusion	721
4.7. Bibliographical notes	722

Chapter 5Projection of verb phrases IIIb: Argument and complementive clauses 725*Introduction 729*5.1. Finite argument clauses 730*5.1.1. General introduction 731

I. The syntactic function of finite argument clauses 731

II. The form of finite argument clauses 731

III. The anticipatory pronominal elements het 'it' and er + P 'P + it' 734

IV. Free relatives 736

5.1.2. Direct object clauses 7385.1.2.1. Selection restrictions on finite direct object clauses 739

I. Communication verbs 740

II. Verbs of (direct) perception 742

III. Cognition verbs 744

IV. Verbs of investigation and discovery 746

V. Verbs of wishing 747

VI. Subject-experiencer verbs 747

VII. Finite object clauses that function as the logical SUBJECT of a complementive 748

VIII. Conclusion 749

5.1.2.2. The placement of finite object clauses 749

I. Extraposed position 750

II. Middle field 751

III. Sentence-initial position 753

IV. Apparent object clauses 754

5.1.2.3. Factive versus non-factive complement clause constructions 757

I. The truth of the embedded proposition is presupposed 757

II. Properties of factive verbs 759

A. Paraphrase by het feit dat ... 'the fact that ...' 759

B. Negation does not affect the presupposed truth of a factive clause 760

C. Questioning does not affect the presupposed truth of a factive clause 760

D. Question-answer pairs 761

E. Wh-extraction 762

F. Negative polarity items 762

III. Factors affecting factivity 762

A. Adverbial phrases 763

B. The anticipatory pronoun het 'it' 763

C. Passivization 765

D. Placement of the dependent clause in the middle field of the matrix clause 765

IV. The position of the factive clause in the middle field 766

V. Wh-extraction from factive clauses 766

VI. The syntactic status of factive clauses 767

VII. Factive interrogative clauses 768

VIII. Conclusion 771

5.1.2.4. Reported speech 771

I. Indirect reported speech 775

A. Selection restrictions on the embedded clause 775

B. Position of the embedded clause 775

C. The use of an anticipatory pronoun 775

D. Wh-extraction 776

E. Binding 776

F. Licensing of negative polarity items 777

G. Conclusion 777

II. Direct and semi-direct reported speech	777
A. Direct reported speech	778
B. Semi-direct reported speech	783
C. Additional evidence for structural ambiguity	786
D. The structure of parenthetical (semi-)direct reported speech constructions	789
E. Parenthetical direct reported speech constructions with zoals 'as'	791
III. Quotative and polar van -constructions	792
A. Quotative van -constructions	793
B. Polar van -constructions	797
5.1.3. Subject clauses	806
I. Verb types	806
II. The placement of subject clauses	810
III. The anticipatory pronoun het and expletive er	811
5.1.4. Prepositional object clauses?	814
5.1.5. Fragment clauses	817
I. Fragment wh -questions (sluicing)	818
A. Fragment wh -questions are clauses	818
B. What is Sluicing?	823
C. The antecedent clause need not be isomorphic to the phonetically empty TP	831
D. The correlate of the wh -phrase in the antecedent clause	833
E. Sluicing-like constituents	835
F. Conclusion	838
II. Fragment answers	838
A. Fragment answers are clauses	840
B. The derivation of fragment clauses	842
C. Two problems	844
D. Conclusion	845
5.1.6. Wh-extraction from argument clauses	846
I. Bridge verbs	846
II. Two approaches to wh -extraction	850
5.1.7. Independently used argument clauses	852
5.2. Infinitival argument clauses	854
5.2.1. Om + te-infinitivals	855
5.2.1.1. The distribution of om + te-infinitivals	856
I. Direct object clauses	856
II. Subject clauses	857
III. Prepositional object clauses	859
IV. Topicalization and left dislocation	860
A. Object Clauses	860
B. Subject clauses	860
C. Prepositional object clauses	862
V. Conclusion	862
5.2.1.2. The categorial status of the element om	862
5.2.1.3. The implied subject PRO in om + te-infinitivals	864
I. Why adopt a phonetically empty PRO-subject?	865
II. Semantic restrictions on the implied PRO-subject and its controller	869
III. Control of the implied PRO-subject in object clauses	871
A. Obligatory versus non-obligatory control	872
B. Subject Control	873
C. Object control	877
D. PRO-subjects with split antecedents or arbitrary reference	880
E. Syntactic or semantic control, or perhaps pragmatics?	887

5.2.1.4.	Variation in the form of the complementizer	890
5.2.2.	Te-infinitivals	890
5.2.2.1.	Control infinitivals	892
	I. Subject control	893
	II. Object control	897
	III. No PRO-subjects with split antecedents	898
	A. No split antecedents	899
	B. A possible counterexample	900
	IV. How te and om + te -infinitivals differ	902
5.2.2.2.	Subject-raising infinitivals	905
	I. General properties of subject-raising constructions	905
	A. Subject raising versus control infinitivals: pronominalization	906
	B. The status of the subject-raising verb: main or non-main verb?	907
	C. Syntactic properties of subject-raising constructions	908
	II. Subject-raising verbs	913
	A. The verbs blijken 'to turn out', lijken 'to appear', and schijnen 'to seem'	913
	B. The verbs dreigen 'to threaten' and beloven 'to promise'	918
	C. Other verbs	924
	III. Passive subject-raising constructions	927
	A. Idiomatic passive subject-raising constructions: Geacht/verondersteld worden	928
	B. Passivized subject-control verbs	930
	C. Obligatory versus non-obligatory control verbs	931
5.2.2.3.	Extraposition and verb clustering	933
	I. A brief outline of the discussion and its conclusions	933
	II. Islandhood: the categorial status of om + te and te -infinitivals	937
	III. Transparent versus opaque te -infinitivals	938
	IV. Semi-transparent te -infinitivals: a mixed type	941
	V. Clause splitting of (semi-)transparent te -infinitivals	942
	VI. Semi-transparent and opaque te -infinitivals are similar	944
	VII. Support for the movement analysis: subject raising	947
	VIII. Additional restrictions on transparency of argument clauses	949
	IX. On the distinction between transparent and semi-transparent te -infinitivals	953
	X. Selection restrictions on infinitival clauses imposed by the matrix verb	955
5.2.3.	Bare infinitivals	959
5.2.3.1.	The verb leren 'to teach/learn'	960
	I. The bare infinitive is (not) part of the verb sequence	961
	II. The bare infinitive follows/precedes the governing verb	961
	III. The bare infinitive triggers/does not trigger the IPP-effect	962
	IV. The bare infinitive allows/does not allow focus movement	963
	V. The bare infinitive can follow sentence negation/be preceded by geen 'no'	964
	VI. Conclusion	965
5.2.3.2.	Modal verbs	966
	I. Modal verbs are main verbs	966
	II. Modal verbs take bare infinitival complement clauses	967
	III. Types of modality	970
	A. Propositional modality	972
	B. Event modality	977
	C. A binary feature analysis of modal verbs	984
5.2.3.3.	Perception verbs	986
	I. Meaning: direct involuntary sensory perception	987
	II. Perception verbs are main verbs	990
	III. Perception verbs take bare infinitival complement clauses	991
	A. Phrases in which the subject of the bare infinitival is expressed	991
	B. Phrases in which the subject of the bare infinitival is left implicit	994
	C. Conclusion	997

IV.	The subject of the bare infinitival clause	997
A.	The direct object is not an internal argument of the perception verb	997
B.	Case-marking of the subject of the infinitival clause	999
C.	Suppression of the embedded subject	1001
V.	Some additional remarks on perception verbs	1002
A.	Aan het + Infinitive complement?	1002
B.	Nominalization of AcI-constructions	1004
5.2.3.4.	Causative laten 'to make/let' and doen 'to make'	1005
I.	The meaning contribution of laten and doen	1006
II.	Laten and doen are main verbs	1009
III.	Laten and doen take a bare infinitival complement clause	1010
IV.	The subject of the bare infinitival clause	1010
V.	Suppression of the embedded subject	1012
VI.	Some additional remarks on the verb laten	1014
A.	Reflexive middle construction	1014
B.	Quasi-imperative laten -constructions	1015
5.2.3.5.	Hebben 'to have' + infinitive	1018
5.3.	Complementive clauses	1022
I.	Finite clauses	1022
II.	Infinitival clauses	1027
A.	Om + te -infinitivals	1027
B.	Te -infinitives	1029
C.	Bare infinitives	1030
D.	Conclusion	1030
5.4.	Bibliographical notes	1030

Chapter 6Projection of verb phrases IIIc: Complements of non-main verbs 1041*Introduction 1043*6.1. Characteristics and typology of non-main verbs 1043

I. Monoclausal behavior 1044

II. Monoclausal behavior is not sufficient for assuming non-main verb status 1045

III. Types of non-main verbs 1047

6.2. Non-main verbs selecting a participle 10486.2.1. Perfect auxiliaries 1048I. The function of the auxiliaries hebben and zijn 1048II. The choice between hebben and zijn 1049

III. Form and placement of the governed verb in clusters of two verbs 1050

IV. Form and placement of the governed verb in clusters of three or more verbs 1052

A. Verb clusters of the form $V_{finite} - Aux_{non-finite} - V_{main}$ 1052B. Verb clusters of the form $aux_{finite} - V_{non-finite} - V_{main}$ 1054

V. Clause splitting and permeation of the clause-final verb cluster 1058

A. Direct objects 1059

B. Prepositional objects 1060

C. Object clauses 1061

D. Complementives and verbal particles 1062

E. Nouns in N+V collocations 1064

F. Manner adverbs 1065

VI. Some generalizations 1066

VII. How to recognize perfect auxiliaries? 1068

6.2.2. Passive auxiliaries 1069

I. Types of passive constructions 1070

II. Passive auxiliaries 1070

III. Form of the passivized verb and its placement in the clause-final verb cluster 1071

A. Clause-final verb sequences of two verbs 1071

B. Clause-final verb sequences of three verbs 1072

IV. Clause splitting and permeation of the clause-final verb cluster 1074

A. Impersonal/regular passives with clause-final sequences of two verbs 1074

B. Impersonal/regular passives with clause-final sequences of three verbs 1076

C. Krijgen-passives with clause-final sequences of two or three verbs 1080

V. Some generalizations 1082

VI. How to recognize passive auxiliaries? 1084

6.2.3. Unclear cases: adjectival participles 1086I. The verb raken/krijgen 'to get' + participle (semi-copular constructions) 1086

II. Modal verb + participle 1087

A. Lijken 'to appear', schijnen 'to seem' and blijken 'to turn out' 1087B. Moeten 'must', kunnen 'can', etc. 1089

C. Conclusion 1090

III. Collocations consisting of a verb and a participle 1090

IV. The verb komen 'to come' + participle 10926.2.4. The function of the past/passive participle and the auxiliary 1094

I. The meaning contribution of the past/passive participle 1094

II. The function of the past/passive auxiliaries 1096

III. Conclusion 1100

6.3.	Non-main verbs selecting a te -infinitive	1100
6.3.1.	Semi-aspectual verbs	1101
	I. The non-main verb	1102
	II. Semantic restrictions on the infinitival complement	1104
	III. The form of the infinitival complement	1106
	IV. Semi-aspectual verb constructions exhibit monoclausal behavior	1108
	V. Word order in the clause-final verb cluster	1109
6.3.2.	Unclear cases	1109
	I. Hangen 'to hang' + te -infinitive	1110
	II. Zijn/Vinden/achten + te -infinitive	1115
	III. Geven/hebben/krijgen + te -infinitive	1116
	IV. Komen + te -infinitive	1118
6.3.3.	Conclusion	1119
6.4.	Non-main verbs selecting a bare infinitive	1119
6.4.1.	Aspectual verbs	1120
	I. Meaning contribution of the aspectual verbs	1121
	II. Restrictions on the bare infinitive	1123
	III. There is no evidence that aspectual verbs take arguments	1124
	IV. The bare infinitive is verbal in nature	1125
	V. The verb gaan is not a future auxiliary	1126
	VI. Vissen gaan versus uit vissen gaan	1126
6.4.2.	Zijn + bare infinitive (absentive construction)	1129
	I. Meaning	1130
	II. Semantic restrictions on the bare infinitive	1133
	III. There is no evidence that the verb zijn 'to be' takes arguments	1134
	IV. Is the bare infinitive nominal or verbal in nature?	1135
	V. Vissen zijn versus uit vissen zijn	1139
6.4.3.	The non-main verb doen 'to do'	1141
	I. Standard Dutch doen differs from its cognates in English and the Dutch dialects	1141
	II. Dutch doen as a "last resort" verb	1142
	A. VP-topicalization	1142
	B. Contrastive left dislocation of VP	1143
	C. VP-pronominalization	1144
	III. Is doen as a verb of last resort a uniform category?	1144
	A. VP split	1145
	B. Restrictions on the verb	1145
	C. A note on VP-topicalization	1146
	D. Conclusion	1147
6.5.	Bibliographical notes	1147

Chapter 7Projection of verb phrases IIId: Verb clustering 1151*Introduction 1152*7.1. Recognizing verb clusters 11537.1.1. Clause splitting: verb clustering versus (remnant) extraposition 11537.1.2. Conversion: Nonverbal uses of participles and (te-)infinitives 1157*

I. Past/passive participles 1158

II. Te-infinitives 1160

III. Bare infinitives 1161

IV. Aan het + infinitive 1163

V. Summary 1163

*7.1.3. Conclusion 11637.2. The hierarchical order of verbs in verb clusters 1164

I. Notational conventions 1165

II. A procedure for determining hierarchical order 1166

III. Restrictions on hierarchical order 1168

A. Verb clusters of two verbs 1168

B. Larger verb clusters with one main verb 1170

C. Larger Verb clusters with two main verbs 1171

D. Larger verb clusters with three main verbs 1186

E. Conclusion 1194

7.3. The linear order of verbs in verb clusters 1194

I. Clusters of two verbs 1196

A. Aux_1 + Participle₂: perfect-tense and passive constructions 1196B. V_1 + te-infinitive₂ 1198C. V_1 + bare infinitive₂ 1199

D. Summary and generalizations 1201

II. Clusters of three or more verbs 1201

A. V_1 + Aux_2 + Participle₃: perfect-tense and passive constructions 1202B. V_1 + V_2 + te-infinitive₃ 1209C. V_1 + V_2 + bare infinitive₃ 1212

III. Generalizations and additional remarks 1215

A. Caveats 1215

B. Possible problem with generalizations (174b&c) 1216

7.4. Permeation of verb clusters 1219

I. Nominal arguments 1220

II. Complementives and verbal particles 1221

III. Adverbs 1223

IV. Conclusion 1223

7.5. Bibliographical notes 1224

Chapter 8Projection of verb phrases IV: Adverbial modification 1231*Introduction 1233*8.1. VP adverbials versus clause adverbials 1233

I. Domain of modification: lexical versus functional domain 1233

II. Word order 1235

III. Adverbial tests 1236

IV. Adverbial phrases ambiguous between VP and clause adverbials 1239

8.2. Semantic types of adverbial modifiers 1240*8.2.1. *VP adverbials 1240

I. Process Adverbials 1240

II. Agentive adverbials 1243

III. Spatiotemporal adverbials 1244

A. Temporal adverbials 1245

B. Spatial adverbial phrases 1247

IV. Contingency adverbials 1249

V. Degree adverbials 1251

8.2.2. Clause adverbials 1252

I. Polarity adverbials 1253

II. Evaluative comparative adverbials 1255

III. Focus particles 1256

IV. Aspectual adverbials 1257

V. Clause-degree adverbials 1259

VI. Propositional modal adverbials 1260

VII. Subject-oriented adverbials 1261

VIII. Subjective adverbials 1262

IX. Point-of-view adverbials 1264

X. Spatiotemporal adverbials 1265

XI. Contingency adverbials 1266

XII. Domain adverbials 1268

XIII. Conjunctive adverbials 1269

XIV. Speech-act related adverbials 1270

8.2.3. Multiple temporal/locational adverbials 1271

I. Theoretical background (Binary Tense Theory) 1271

II. Temporal adverbials 1274

III. Locational adverbials 1279

IV. Conclusion 1283

8.3. Categorical types of adverbial modifiers 1283*8.3.1. *On the notion of adverb 1284*8.3.2. *VP adverbials 1285

I. Process Adverbials 1285

II. Agentive adverbials 1286

III. Spatiotemporal adverbials 1287

A. Locational adverbials 1287

B. Temporal adverbials (punctual) 1288

C. Temporal adverbials (durational and frequentative) 1293

IV. Contingency: cause, reason, purpose, result, concession 1294

V. Degree: erg 'very'; een beetje 'a bit' 12958.3.3. *Clause adverbials 1296

8.4.	The unmarked order of adverbial modifiers	1299
	I. Movement operations affecting adverbials	1300
	A. Wh -movement (wh -question formation and topicalization)	1300
	B. Extraposition	1301
	C. Focus movement	1302
	D. Weak proform shift	1302
	E. Conclusion	1303
	II. VP adverbials	1303
	A. Process adverbials	1303
	B. Agentive adverbials	1304
	C. Spatiotemporal adverbials	1305
	D. Contingency adverbials	1306
	E. Degree adverbials	1307
	F. Conclusion	1307
	III. Clause adverbials	1307
	A. Scope-bearing adverbials	1308
	B. Evaluative adverbials	1310
	C. Spatiotemporal and contingency adverbials	1311
	D. Remaining cases	1313
	IV. Conclusion	1314
8.5.	Obligatory adverbial phrases	1315
8.6.	Bibliographical notes	1316

Chapter 9Word order in the clause I: General introduction 1319*Introduction 1320*9.1. The overall organization of the clause 1321*9.2. The position of the verbs 1324

I. Main clauses 1325

II. Embedded clauses 1328

III. The standard analysis 1329

IV. Conclusion 1330

9.3. The clause-initial position 1331

I. Questions 1331

II. Topicalization 1334

III. The position of the subject 1335

IV. An alternative analysis 1336

V. Conclusion 1337

9.4. The postverbal field 1338

I. Arguments of the verb 1338

A. Nominal versus clausal complements 1339

B. PP-complements 1341

C. A comparison with English 1343

D. Conclusion 1344

II. Adverbial modifiers 1345

III. Postverbal phrases that are not constituents of the clause 1346

9.5. The middle field 1347

I. Complementives and verbal particles 1348

II. Nominal argument (object and subject) shift 1350

III. Negation, focus, and topic-movement 1352

A. Nominal argument shift versus movement of PP-complements 1352

B. Negation movement 1354

C. Focus movement 1356

D. Topic movement 1357

IV. Conclusion 1358

9.6. Conclusion 13589.7. Bibliographical notes 1358

Chapter 10Word order in the clause II: Position of the finite verb (verb-first/second) 1363

Introduction	1364
10.1. Placement of the finite verb	1365
I. Clause-final verbs	1365
II. Verb-first/second II	1367
III. A comparative perspective on the placement of the finite verb	1371
10.2. Verbal (X+V) collocations and verb-first/second	1373
I. Separable and inseparable verbal collocations	1376
II. Differences between separable and inseparable verbal collocations	1379
III. Similarities between separable and inseparable N+V collocations	1382
IV. Immobile verbal collocations	1385
V. The three main types of verbal collocations: a theoretical excursion	1388
VI. Types of immobile verbal collocations	1391
A. Type touwtje springen 'to skip'	1391
B. Type stijl dansen 'to ballroom dance'	1396
C. Type gedachtelezen 'to mind-read'	1398
D. Particle verbs (vooraanmelden 'to preregister')	1400
E. Type voorverkopen 'to sell in advance'	1408
VII. Summary	1410
10.3. Verb-first/second: special cases	1411
10.3.1. Comparative correlatives: no verb-first/second in main clauses?	1411
10.3.2. Verb-first/second in embedded clauses?	1418
I. Conditional V1-clauses	1419
II. Contrastive V1-clauses	1423
III. Exclamative V1-clauses	1428
IV. Concessive V2-clauses	1430
V. Some possible problems	1432
VI. Conclusion	1435
10.4. Bibliographical notes	1436

Chapter 11Word order in the clause III: Clause-initial position (wh-movement) 1439*Introduction 1442

11.1.	The formation of V1 and V2-clauses	1443
	I. Verb movement: Verb-first/second	1443
	II. Topicalization and question formation	1444
	III. The clause-initial position contains at most one constituent	1445
	IV. The syntactic function of the constituent in clause-initial position	1447
	V. Clause-initial constituents are semantically marked	1448
	VI. Subject-initial sentences are semantically unmarked	1450
	VII. Main versus embedded clauses	1452
	VIII. Verb-third in main clauses?	1453
	IX. Conclusion	1462
11.2.	Clause-initial position remains (phonetically) empty	1463
11.2.1.	Yes/no questions	1463
11.2.2.	Topic drop	1465
11.2.3.	Finite imperatives	1470
	I. The motivation for a phonetically empty imperative operator	1471
	II. The empty operator analysis of Leg terug, dat boek!	1473
	III. The analysis of Leg terug, dat boek! as forum imperative	1477
	IV. Conclusion	1480
11.2.4.	Narrative inversion	1480
11.2.5.	Other cases	1481
	I. Exhortative constructions	1482
	II. Conjunctive	1482
	III. Fixed idiomatic constructions	1483
11.3.	Clause-initial position is filled	1484
11.3.1.	Wh-questions	1486
11.3.1.1.	Wh-movement in simplex clauses (short wh -movement)	1488
	I. Wh -movement is near-obligatory	1489
	II. A functional motivation for wh -movement?	1491
	III. Categorial status and syntactic function of the wh -phrase	1492
	IV. Wh -movement in embedded clauses	1494
	V. Pied piping	1495
	A. Pied piping as a repair strategy	1496
	B. Noun phrases	1498
	C. PPs	1501
	D. APs	1504
	E. Verbal (extended) projections	1505
	F. Conclusion	1506
	VI. Stranding	1506
	A. Wh -extraction from PP	1507
	B. Wh -extraction from noun phrases	1515
	C. Wh -extraction from APs	1516
	VII. A note on the “avoid pied piping” constraint	1520

11.3.1.2.	Wh -extraction from embedded clauses: long wh -movement	1521
	I. Restrictions on the moved element	1522
	II. Complementizer-trace effects	1523
	III. Restrictions on the syntactic function of the embedded clause	1526
	IV. Bridge verbs	1529
	V. Long wh -movement is obligatory and leaves an intermediate trace	1530
	VI. Long wh -movement from infinitival clauses	1532
11.3.1.3.	Islands for question formation	1534
	I. Factive islands: the distinction between strong and weak islands	1534
	II. Embedded questions	1535
	III. Subject clauses	1537
	IV. Adjunct clauses	1538
	V. Complex noun phrases	1538
	VI. Coordinate structures	1539
	VII. A note on resumptive prolepsis	1540
11.3.1.4.	Multiple wh -questions	1543
	I. Semantic and phonetic characteristics: the pair-list reading and intonation	1543
	II. Syntactic function of the wh -phrases	1545
	III. Island sensitivity	1548
	A. Embedded questions	1548
	B. Adjunct clauses	1548
	C. Complex noun phrase	1549
	D. Coordinate structures	1550
	E. Conclusion	1550
	IV. Superiority condition	1550
11.3.2.	Relative clauses	1553
	I. Wh -movement of the relative element is obligatory	1553
	II. Pied piping and stranding	1554
	III. Long Wh -movement and islands	1556
	IV. Cleft and pseudo-cleft constructions	1559
11.3.3.	Topicalization	1560
	I. Syntactic function and categorial status of the topicalized element	1560
	II. Topicalization is a subcase of wh -movement	1563
	III. Subject-initial clauses versus topicalization constructions	1565
	IV. Information structure: focus and topic	1567
	A. Contrastive/restrictive focus	1568
	B. Aboutness topic	1570
	C. Contrastive topics	1571
	D. Topic shift	1572
	E. Connectives	1572
	F. Verbal particles	1573
	G. Formal movement: movement without semantic effect	1575
	V. Pied piping and stranding	1577
	VI. Topicalization of verbal projections	1579
	A. Argument clauses	1580
	B. Adverbial clauses	1585
	C. Complements of non-main verbs (VP-topicalization)	1586
	D. Conclusion	1597
	VII. Some final remarks on English and Dutch topicalization	1597

11.3.4.	Wh-exclamatives	1600
	I. Meaning	1601
	A. The extremely-high-degree reading	1601
	B. The extremely-large-quantity reading	1604
	C. Ambiguity	1605
	D. Factivity	1606
	E. Widening	1607
	II. Two syntactic types of wh -exclamative	1609
	A. Non-split pattern	1610
	B. Pseudo-split pattern	1612
	C. More differences between non-split and pseudo-split wh -exclamatives	1616
	III. Wh -exclamatives can be main or non-main clauses	1618
	IV. Exclamations versus exclamatives	1621
	A. Other types of exclamative constructions	1622
	B. Exclamations: incomplete sentences	1625
	C. Conclusion	1627
11.3.5.	Comparative (sub)deletion	1627
	I. Comparative Deletion	1628
	II. Comparative subdeletion	1631
	III. Conclusion	1634
11.3.6.	Comparative correlative constructions	1634
11.3.7.	Reconstruction	1635
	I. Binding	1636
	II. Topicalization	1638
	A. The data	1638
	B. Reconstruction versus connectivity effects	1642
	III. Wh -movement	1645
	IV. Relativization	1647
	A. Reconstruction effects	1647
	B. Connectivity effects	1648
	C. Summary and concluding remarks	1650
	V. Conclusion	1650
11.3.8.	Parasitic gaps	1652
	I. The bijection principle	1652
	II. Characteristic properties of parasitic gaps	1653
	III. Parasitic gaps in Dutch	1657
	A. The landing site and overt movement restriction in (559a&b)	1657
	B. The anti-c-command restriction in (559c)	1667
	C. The categorial restriction in (559d)	1678
	D. The multiple-island restriction in (559e)	1680
	E. Special properties of Dutch	1682
	IV. Conclusion	1684
11.4.	Bibliographical notes	1685

Chapter 12Word order in the clause IV: Postverbal field (extraposition)*1699*Introduction*1700*12.1. General introduction*1701

I. The clause-final field is accessible to more than one constituent 1702

II. The mirror effect

1702

III. The postverbal field can also be filled in the absence of clause-final verbs

1703

IV. Not all postverbal elements are extraposed

1704

V. Factors potentially favoring extraposition

1707

12.2. Arguments, complementives and selected measure phrases1708

I. Arguments

1708

A. Nominal arguments

1709

B. Clausal complementives

1711

C. PP-complementives

1712

D. Conclusion

1715

II. Complementives

1716

III. Other cases

1719

IV. Conclusion

1719

12.3. Modifiers of the clause1720

I. Prepositional adverbial phrases

1720

II. Adverbial clauses

1724

III. Adjectival adjunct phrases

1726

A. Adverbial phrases

1726

B. Adjectival complementives

1727

C. Conclusion

1728

IV. Nominal adverbial phrases

1728

V. Conclusion

1729

12.4. Parts of constituents1729

I. Relative clauses and postnominal complementives/modifiers

1730

II. Other cases of split extraposition

1738

III. VP-topicalization

1740

IV. An alternative analysis

1742

V. Conclusion

1746

12.5. Word order1746

I. The position of argument clauses

1746

A. Placement with respect to other arguments

1747

B. Placement with respect to adverbial clauses

1748

C. Placement with respect to prepositional adverbial phrases

1749

II. Prepositional objects

1750

A. PP-complementives adjacent to clause-final verbs/particles

1750

B. A'-Scrambled and topicalized PP-complementives

1753

III. Adverbial phrases

1754

IV. Extraposition in main clauses without a verb in clause-final position

1755

V. Conclusion

1755

12.6. Bibliographical notes1756

Chapter 13Word order in the clause V: Middle field (scrambling) 1761*Introduction 1763

13.1.	Unmarked word orders in the middle field of the clause	1767
	I. New-information focus	1767
	II. The unmarked order of arguments and complementives	1768
	III. Sentence accent	1769
	A. Neutral intonation: the location of sentence accent	1769
	B. Information-structural effects of non-neutral intonation patterns	1771
	C. Summary and concluding remark	1774
	IV. Conclusion	1774
13.2.	A-Scrambling: nominal argument shift	1775
	I. A flexible movement approach to nominal argument shift	1776
	A. Two empirical arguments in favor of the flexible movement approach	1776
	B. Information-structural restrictions on nominal argument shift	1780
	C. Interaction of different types of argument shift	1782
	D. Conclusion	1787
	II. Nominal argument shift and the location of sentence accent	1788
	III. Nominal argument shift is A-movement	1789
13.3.	A'-scrambling: negation, focus and topic movement	1792
13.3.1.	Negation movement	1794
	I. The location of NegP	1795
	II. Negation movement	1797
	A. The specifier of NegP must be filled by a negative phrase	1798
	B. Negative phrases can be topicalized	1799
	C. Negative phrases cannot be extraposed	1800
	D. Negative phrases that are not in the specifier of NegP	1800
	III. A note on negative polarity items	1801
	IV. Negation movement is A'-movement	1802
	V. The interaction of negation movement and nominal argument shift	1803
13.3.2.	Contrastive focus and topic movement	1804
	I. Focus movement	1806
	A. The landing site of focus movement	1806
	B. Focus movement is A'-movement	1808
	C. Is focus movement obligatory?	1814
	II. Topic movement	1827
	III. Controversial issues	1829
13.3.3.	Conclusion	1831
13.4.	Weak proform shift	1832
	I. Referential personal pronouns	1832
	A. Weak pronominal subjects of (in)transitive verbs	1832
	B. Weak pronominal objects	1834
	C. Pronominal subjects of passive and unaccusative constructions	1838
	II. The simplex reflexive zich	1839
	III. The weak R-word er	1842
	A. Expletive er	1842
	B. Locational er	1843
	C. Prepositional er	1843
	D. Quantitative er	1845
	IV. Conclusion	1847
13.5.	Bibliographical notes	1848

ToC	4983
Glossary (Part I: Verb phrases)	1855
References (Part I: Verb phrases)	1911

PART II
Nouns and noun phrases

1955

Introduction to Part II	1957
I. Internal organization of the noun phrase	1957
A. NP-domain (Chapter 15 through Chapter 17)	1957
B. DP-domain (Chapter 18 through Chapter 20)	1958
II. The syntactic uses of noun phrase (Chapter 21)	1959
III. Binding Theory	1959
IV. Important reading instruction	1960

Chapter 14Nouns: Characterization and classification*1963

Introduction

1966

14.1. Characterization

1966

14.1.1. Nominal features (number, gender and person)

1966

I. Number

1966

II. Gender

1967

III. Person

1968

IV. Illustration: personal and possessive pronouns

1969

14.1.2. The internal structure of the noun phrase

1969

I. The NP-domain

1969

II. The DP-domain

1970

A. Determiners and quantifiers/numerals

1970

B. Predeterminers

1973

III. Non-restrictive modifiers

1974

IV. Order of elements within the noun phrase

1974

14.1.3. Syntactic uses and semantic functions of the noun phrase

1975

I. Argument

1975

II. Predicative use of the noun phrase

1977

III. Adverbial use of noun phrases

1977

14.2. Classification

1978

14.2.1. Proper nouns

1979

I. Semantic properties

1980

II. Syntactic properties

1981

A. Proper nouns: prototypical and non-prototypical use

1981

B. Proper nouns used as common nouns

1985

C. Common nouns used as proper nouns

1986

14.2.2. Common nouns

1986

14.2.2.1. Concrete nouns

1987

I. Subclassification

1987

II. Differences between the four subclasses

1989

A. Substance nouns [-SHAPE] [-SET]

1989

B. Individual nouns [+SHAPE] [-SET]

1990

C. Mass nouns [-SHAPE] [+SET]

1990

D. Collective nouns [+SHAPE] [+SET]

1991

III. Non-prototypical uses

1992

A. Substance nouns used as individual nouns ([-SHAPE] → [+SHAPE])

1992

B. Mass nouns used as individual nouns ([-SHAPE] → [+SHAPE])

1996

C. Individual nouns used as substance nouns ([+SHAPE] → [-SHAPE])

1996

IV. Special uses: exclamative and evaluative constructions

1998

A. Exclamative use of [-SHAPE] nouns

1998

B. Evaluative use of [+SHAPE] nouns

1998

14.2.2.2. Abstract nouns

2000

I. Subclassification

2000

A. State-of-affairs nouns

2001

B. Proposition nouns

2001

C. Speech-act nouns

2002

D. Property nouns

2004

E. Emotion nouns

2006

II. Non-prototypical uses

2006

14.2.3. Relational versus non-relational nouns

2007

14.3.	Nominalization	2010
14.3.1.	Deverbal nouns	2010
14.3.1.1.	General properties of nominalization	2011
	I. The form of the derived noun	2011
	II. The relation of the derived noun to the input verb	2011
	III. Restrictions on the derivational process	2011
	A. Auxiliary and modal verbs	2012
	B. Copular verbs	2012
	C. Subject-raising verbs	2013
	D. Object-experiencer verbs	2013
	IV. The degree of verbalness/nominalness of the nominalization	2015
14.3.1.2.	INF-nominalization (nominal infinitives)	2015
	I. Form of the derived noun	2016
	II. Nominal properties	2016
	A. Determiners	2016
	B. Pluralization, quantification and questioning	2017
	C. Modification	2018
	D. The form of the complement	2018
	III. Relation to the input verb	2019
	A. Intransitive verbs	2019
	B. Transitive verbs	2019
	C. Ditransitive verbs	2020
	D. Unaccusative verbs	2021
	E. Verbs with a PP-complement	2021
	IV. Restrictions on the derivational process	2021
	V. The degree of verbalness/nominalness	2022
14.3.1.3.	ING-nominalization	2023
	I. Form and meaning of the derived noun	2023
	A. Types of ING-nominalization	2024
	B. Result nouns ending in -ing	2025
	C. Person and object denoting names ending in -ing	2026
	D. Summary	2027
	II. Nominal properties	2028
	A. Determiners	2028
	B. Wh -movement	2028
	C. Pluralization	2028
	D. Modification	2029
	III. Relation to the input verb	2030
	A. Intransitive verbs	2030
	B. Transitive verbs	2031
	C. Ditransitive verbs	2031
	D. Unaccusative verbs	2032
	E. Verbs with a PP-complement	2032
	F. Noun incorporation (compounding)	2032
	IV. Restrictions on the derivational process	2033
	A. Inherently reflexive verbs	2033
	B. More verb classes defying ING-nominalization	2035
	C. Accidental gaps and meaning specialization	2035
	V. The degree of verbalness/nominalness	2036

14.3.1.4.	GE-nominalization	2036
	I. Form and meaning of the derived noun	2037
	II. Nominal properties	2039
	A. Determiners	2039
	B. Wh -movement	2039
	C. Pluralization	2040
	D. Modification	2040
	III. Relation to the input verb	2040
	A. Intransitive verbs	2040
	B. Transitive verbs	2041
	C. Ditransitive verbs.	2041
	D. Unaccusative verbs	2041
	E. Verbs with a PP-complement	2042
	F. The pejorative effect of GE-nominalization	2043
	IV. Restrictions on the derivational process	2043
	A. Controllability	2044
	B. Inseparable complex verbs	2044
	C. Inherently reflexive verbs	2046
	V. The degree of verbalness/nominalness	2046
14.3.1.5.	ER-nominalization	2047
	I. Form and meaning of the derived noun	2047
	II. Relation to the input verb	2049
	III. Restrictions on the derivational process	2049
	A. Thematic role of the argument represented by the -er ending	2050
	B. Type of input verb	2055
	IV. The degree of verbalness/nominalness	2058
14.3.1.6.	Summary	2058
14.3.2.	Deadjectival nouns	2059
	I. Form and meaning of the derived noun	2059
	A. Form of the deadjectival noun	2059
	B. Meaning of the [-HUMAN] deadjectival noun	2061
	II. Relation to the input adjective	2063
	III. Restrictions on the derivational process	2064
	A. The affix is not entirely predictable	2064
	B. The input adjective must be set-denoting	2065
	C. The input adjective may not take a nominal complement	2066
	D. Isolated cases	2067
	IV. Conclusion	2068
14.3.3.	Denominal nouns	2069
	I. Diminutive form	2069
	II. Person nouns	2070
	III. Other cases	2070
14.3.4.	Special cases	2071
14.4.	Compounding	2072
14.5.	Bibliographical notes	2075

Chapter 15Projection of noun phrases I: Complementation*2081

Introduction	2086
15.1. General observations	2086
I. Complementation of nouns: complements and modifiers	2086
II. Nouns as predicates	2088
III. Complementation of non-derived nouns	2089
IV. Derived nouns: inheritance of argument structure	2091
V. The form of the arguments	2092
A. Realization of the internal argument as a PP or genitive noun phrase	2092
B. Realization of the internal argument as an (indefinite) noun phrase	2098
VI. The position of the arguments	2100
A. The order of the head noun and its internal arguments	2100
B. The order of the recipient and theme arguments of the noun	2101
VII. Summary of the observational generalizations	2102
15.2. Prepositional and nominal complements	2103
15.2.1. Tests for distinguishing PP-complements from PP-adjuncts	2103
I. Difficulties in distinguishing PP-complements from PP-adjuncts	2104
A. van -PPs	2104
B. PPs with prepositions other than van	2105
II. Test 1: obligatoriness of the PP	2106
A. Contextual recoverability	2107
B. Generic, predicative and habitual uses	2108
C. Quantified and existential contexts	2109
D. Incorporation (compounding)	2110
III. Test 2: occurrence of the van -PP in post-copular predicative position	2112
IV. Test 3: R-pronominalization of the PP	2114
V. Test 4: extraction of the PP	2116
A. General description	2116
B. Exceptions	2119
C. Concluding remarks	2123
VI. Illustration of the application of the tests	2125
VII. Conclusion	2126
15.2.2. Relational nouns	2127
I. Form and position of the argument	2127
II. Types of relational nouns	2128
A. Referential properties of the noun phrase	2128
B. Semantic subclasses	2129
III. Differences between relational and non-relational nouns	2131
IV. Application of the complement/adjunct tests	2131
A. Test 1: obligatoriness of PP	2131
B. Test 2: occurrence of the van -PP in post-copular predicative position	2135
C. Test 3: R-pronominalization	2135
D. Test 4: extraction of PP	2136
E. Conclusion	2137

15.2.3.	Deverbal nouns	2137
15.2.3.1.	Agentive ER-nominalizations	2138
	I. Complementation	2139
	A. ER-nominalization of intransitive verbs	2139
	B. ER-nominalization of transitive verbs	2139
	C. ER-nominalization of ditransitive verbs	2140
	D. ER-nominalization of verbs selecting a PP-theme	2143
	E. ER-nominalization of verbs selecting a complementive	2143
	F. Conclusion	2144
	II. Application of the complement/adjunct tests	2145
	A. Test 1: obligatoriness of PP	2145
	B. Test 2: occurrence of the PP in post-copular predicative position	2153
	C. Test 3: R-pronominalization	2154
	D. Test 4: extraction of PP	2155
	E. Conclusion	2158
15.2.3.2.	INF-nominalizations	2159
	I. General principles of INF-nominalization	2160
	A. Choice of determiner	2160
	B. The genitive noun phrase/possessive pronoun	2161
	C. Specificity of the postnominal van -PP and the prenominal NP _{Theme}	2161
	D. The agentive door -phrase	2164
	II. Complementation	2169
	A. INF-nominalization of intransitive verbs	2169
	B. INF-nominalization of unaccusative verbs	2170
	C. INF-nominalization of transitive verbs	2171
	D. INF-nominalization of ditransitive verbs	2175
	E. INF-nominalizations of verbs selecting a prepositional argument	2181
	F. INF-nominalizations taking a complementive	2183
	G. Summary: the common patterns of INF-nominalizations	2185
	III. Application of the complement/adjunct test	2188
	A. Test 1: obligatoriness of PP	2189
	B. Test 2: occurrence of the PP in post-copular predicative position	2190
	C. Test 3: R-pronominalization	2191
	D. Test 4: extraction of PP	2192
	E. Conclusion	2194
15.2.3.3.	ING-nominalizations	2195
	I. Complementation	2195
	A. ING-nominalizations derived from intransitive verbs	2196
	B. ING-nominalizations derived from unaccusative verbs	2196
	C. ING-nominalizations derived from transitive verbs	2197
	D. ING-nominalizations derived from ditransitive verbs	2200
	E. ING-nominalizations derived from verbs with prepositional arguments	2202
	F. ING-nominalizations derived from verbs taking a complementive	2204
	G. Conclusion	2204
	II. Application of the complement/adjunct tests	2205
	A. Test 1: obligatoriness of PP	2205
	B. Test 2: occurrence of the PP in predicative post-copular position	2206
	C. Test 3: R-pronominalization	2206
	D. Test 4: extraction of PP	2207
	E. Conclusion	2210

15.2.3.4.	GE-nominalizations	2211
	I. Complementation	2211
	A. GE-nominalizations derived from intransitive verbs	2211
	B. GE-nominalizations derived from unaccusative verbs	2212
	C. GE-nominalizations derived from monotransitive verbs	2212
	D. GE-nominalizations derived from ditransitive verbs	2215
	E. GE-nominalizations of verbs with prepositional arguments	2217
	F. GE-nominalizations of verbs taking a complementive	2217
	G. Conclusion	2218
	II. Application of the complement/adjunct tests	2219
	A. Test 1: obligatoriness of PP	2219
	B. Test 2: occurrence of the PP in post-copular predicative position	2220
	C. Test 3: R-pronominalization	2221
	D. Test 4: extraction of PP	2222
	E. Conclusion	2225
15.2.3.5.	Deverbal nouns: summary	2226
	I. Nominalizations derived from intransitive verbs	2226
	II. Nominalizations derived from unaccusative verbs	2226
	III. Nominalizations derived from transitive verbs	2227
	IV. Nominalizations derived from ditransitive verbs	2227
	V. Nominalizations derived from verbs with a PP-complement	2228
	VI. Nominalizations derived from verbs with a complementive	2228
15.2.4.	Deadjectival nouns	2228
	I. Complementation	2228
	A. Nouns derived from monadic adjectives	2229
	B. Nouns derived from dyadic adjectives	2230
	C. Nouns derived from triadic adjectives	2232
	D. Conclusion	2233
	II. Application of the complement/adjunct tests	2233
	A. Test 1: obligatoriness of PP	2233
	B. Test 2: occurrence of PP in post-copular predicative position	2234
	C. Test 3: R-pronominalization	2235
	D. Test 4: extraction of PP	2236
	E. Conclusion	2239
15.2.5.	Picture and story nouns	2240
15.2.5.1.	Form and position of the arguments	2240
	I. Picture nouns	2241
	II. Story nouns	2242
15.2.5.2.	Implicit arguments	2246
	I. Picture nouns	2246
	II. Story nouns	2251
15.2.5.3.	Defining the category	2254
	I. Picture nouns	2254
	II. Story nouns	2255
	III. Conversion of picture nouns to story nouns	2255
15.2.5.4.	The distribution of the arguments of the noun	2255
	I. Picture nouns	2256
	A. Picture nouns with one argument expressed	2256
	B. Picture nouns with two arguments expressed	2256
	C. Picture nouns with three arguments expressed	2257
	II. Story nouns	2259
	A. Story nouns with one argument expressed	2259
	B. Story nouns with two arguments expressed	2260
	C. Story nouns with three arguments expressed	2261

15.2.5.5.	The status of the postnominal PPs	2262
I.	The postnominal van -PPs of picture nouns	2262
A.	Picture nouns with maken 'make', kopen 'buy' and beschadigen 'damage'	2263
B.	Picture nouns with zien 'to see' and vervalsen 'to forge'	2267
C.	Conclusion	2269
II.	The postnominal van/over -PPs of story nouns	2269
A.	Story nouns + over -PPs	2270
B.	Story nouns + van -PPs	2273
C.	Story nouns with verbs like zien 'to see' and vertalen 'to translate'	2276
D.	Conclusion	2278
15.2.5.6.	Application of the complement/adjunct tests	2279
I.	Test 1: obligatoriness of the PPs	2279
A.	Picture nouns	2279
B.	Story Nouns	2280
II.	Test 2: occurrence of the van -PPs in post-copular predicative constructions	2281
A.	Picture nouns	2281
B.	Story nouns	2281
III.	Test 3: R-pronominalization	2282
A.	Picture nouns	2282
B.	Story nouns	2283
IV.	Test 4: extraction of PP	2284
A.	Topicalization	2284
B.	Relativization and questioning	2291
C.	PP-over-V	2292
D.	A'-Scrambling	2295
E.	Conclusion	2297
15.2.6.	Conclusion	2298
15.3.	Clausal complements	2299
15.3.1.	Finite clauses	2300
I.	Deverbal speech-act nouns	2300
II.	Deverbal proposition nouns	2303
III.	Non-derived (relational) nouns	2304
IV.	Deadjectival nouns	2305
15.3.2.	Infinitival clauses	2306
I.	Deverbal speech-act nouns	2306
II.	Proposition nouns	2309
III.	Non-derived nouns	2309
IV.	Deadjectival nouns	2310
15.3.3.	Differences between clausal complements and relative clauses	2311
I.	Differences in function	2311
II.	Syntactic differences	2313
A.	The presence of an interpretive gap within the clause	2313
B.	The form of the linker	2314
C.	Distribution of the complement and relative clause	2318
D.	Modification	2319
E.	Determiner selection	2320
F.	A note on infinitival complement clauses	2321
15.4.	Bibliographical notes	2322

Chapter 16Projection of noun phrases II: Modification*2327

Introduction	2331
I. Restrictive and non-restrictive modifiers	2331
II. Form and placement	2331
16.1. Restrictive and non-restrictive modifiers	2332
16.1.1. Differences in form	2332
I. Postmodification	2333
II. Premodification	2334
16.1.2. Differences in function	2335
I. Postmodification	2335
A. Definite noun phrases	2335
B. Specific indefinite noun phrases	2338
C. Generic noun phrases	2338
II. Premodification	2339
16.1.3. Modification versus apposition	2342
I. The form of appositions	2342
II. The function of appositions	2343
A. non-restrictive and restrictive appositions	2343
B. Identification, attribution and inclusion	2343
III. The position of appositions	2344
IV. Conclusion	2345
16.2. Premodification	2346
I. Adjectival phrases	2346
II. Present and past participle phrases	2347
III. Modal infinitives	2348
16.3. Postmodification	2348
16.3.1. Adpositional phrases	2349
I. Restrictive PP-modifiers	2349
A. Indefinite noun phrases	2350
B. Quantified noun phrases	2351
C. Definite noun phrases	2352
D. Noun phrases with a demonstrative pronoun	2354
E. Noun phrases with a possessive/personal pronoun or a proper nouns	2355
II. Non-restrictive PP-modifiers	2357
A. Indefinite noun phrases	2358
B. Quantified noun phrases	2359
C. Definite noun phrases	2360
D. Noun phrases with a demonstrative determiner	2360
E. Noun phrases with a possessive/personal pronoun or a proper nouns	2361
16.3.2. Relative clauses	2362
16.3.2.1. General introduction	2363
16.3.2.2. The form and function of the relative elements	2365
I. Relative pronouns	2366
A. Die/dat 'that'	2367
B. Wie 'who'	2372
C. Wat 'which'	2379
D. Welke 'which'	2392
E. Hetgeen 'which'	2397
II. Possessive relative pronouns	2402

III. The relative pronominal PP waar + P	2404
A. Features of the antecedent	2405
B. Syntactic function of the pronoun	2406
IV. Relative adverbial phrases	2409
A. The R-pronoun waar	2409
B. waar + P (temporal/manner adverbs)	2411
C. Toen/wanneer ‘when’	2412
D. Waarom ‘why’	2413
E. Zoals	2414
V. The relative particle dat	2415
A. Form: the relative particle is invariable	2415
B. Function: the relative particle is an adverbial adjunct of time	2415
VI. Conclusion	2418
16.3.2.3. Restrictive and non-restrictive relative clauses	2419
16.3.2.3.1. Differences between restrictive and non-restrictive relative clauses	2419
I. Type of antecedent	2419
II. Scope of the determiner/quantifier	2420
A. The definite article	2420
B. Quantified antecedents	2421
III. Definiteness/Indefiniteness of the antecedent	2423
A. Generic antecedents	2424
B. Specific antecedents	2424
C. Non-specific antecedents	2425
IV. Binding	2426
V. Negative polarity	2427
VI. Stacking	2427
16.3.2.3.2. Restrictive relative clauses	2428
I. The function of restrictive relative clauses	2428
A. Restrictive relative clauses with definite antecedents	2428
B. Restrictive relative clauses with indefinite antecedents	2434
II. The positions of antecedent and relative clause	2435
A. Extraposition and the syntactic function of the antecedent	2437
B. Extraposition and information structure	2440
C. Leftward movement of the antecedent	2443
D. Extraposition and leftward movement of the antecedent	2444
E. A special case: personal pronoun antecedents	2447
16.3.2.3.3. Non-restrictive relative clauses	2448
I. The function of non-restrictive relative clauses	2449
A. Non-restrictive relative clauses with definite antecedents	2450
B. Non-restrictive relative clauses with indefinite antecedents	2452
C. Non-restrictive relative clauses with predicative antecedents	2453
II. Different types of non-restrictive relative clauses	2455
A. Modifying the antecedent and the matrix clause	2456
B. Continuative relative clauses: discourse relevancy	2457
C. Cleft constructions	2457
III. The positions of antecedent and relative clause	2458
A. Extraposition of the relative clause	2459
B. Multiple relative clauses in extraposed position	2461
C. Leftward movement of the antecedent	2462
D. A special case: personal pronoun antecedents	2463

16.3.2.3.4. Stacked, coordinated and nested relative clauses	2464
I. Stacking and coordination of relative clauses	2465
A. Restrictive relative clauses	2465
B. Non-restrictive relative clauses	2466
II. Nesting of restrictive and non-restrictive relative clauses	2467
III. Mixed constructions with restrictive and non-restrictive relative clauses	2468
16.3.2.4. Coordinated antecedents	2468
16.3.2.4.1. Coordinated and non-coordinated antecedent reading	2470
I. Coordinated noun phrases with two determiners	2470
A. Coordination with restrictive relative clauses	2470
B. Coordination with non-restrictive relative clauses	2471
II. Coordination with a shared determiner	2471
16.3.2.4.2. Conjunctive coordination (en 'and')	2471
I. Coordinated plurals with two determiners	2472
A. Restrictive relative clauses	2472
B. Non-restrictive relative clauses	2474
II. Coordinated singulars with two determiners	2476
A. Restrictive relative clauses	2476
B. Non-restrictive relative clauses	2479
III. Coordinated antecedents with a single article	2480
A. Restrictive relative clauses	2481
B. Non-restrictive relative clauses	2484
IV. Mixed antecedents	2488
A. Gender	2488
B. Number	2491
C. Definiteness	2493
D. Quantification	2494
V. Conclusion	2496
A. Coordinated antecedent reading	2497
B. Non-coordinated antecedent reading	2497
C. The conjuncts of the antecedent	2498
16.3.2.4.3. Disjunctive coordination (of 'or')	2498
I. Coordinated versus non-coordinated antecedents	2498
A. Restrictive relative clauses	2499
B. Non-restrictive relative clauses	2502
II. One-set versus two-set reading (inclusive versus exclusive of 'or')	2504
A. Restrictive relative clauses	2505
B. Non-restrictive relative clauses	2507
III. Generic/non-generic contexts	2509
A. Restrictive relative clauses	2509
B. Non-restrictive relative clauses	2510
IV. Mixed antecedents	2512
A. Gender	2512
B. Number	2514
C. Definiteness	2515
D. Quantification	2515
V. Conclusion	2517

16.3.3.	Infinitival clauses	2517
	I. Restrictive infinitival clauses containing an empty operator	2519
	A. Are restrictive infinitival clauses with an empty operator relative clauses?	2519
	B. Restrictions on the antecedent of the empty operator	2520
	C. Restrictions on the infinitive and the empty operator	2521
	II. Non-restrictive infinitival clauses	2523
	III. Restrictive infinitival clauses without an empty operator	2524
	A. Are non-restrictive infinitivals without an empty operator relative clauses?	2524
	B. Restrictions on the antecedent	2525
	C. Restrictions on the infinitive	2526
	IV. Two seemingly comparable constructions	2527
	A. Purpose clauses	2527
	B. Modal infinitives	2529
16.3.4.	A special case: clauses referring to a proposition	2531
16.3.5.	Adjectival phrases	2532
	I. Adjective phrases	2532
	II. Participle phrases	2533
	A. Present participle phrases	2533
	B. Past/passive participle phrases	2535
16.3.6.	Adverbial postmodification	2536
	I. Adverbial phrases of time and place	2536
	A. Temporal adverbs	2536
	B. Locational adverbs	2539
	II. Adverbial clauses	2541
	A. The subordinating conjunctions	2542
	B. Restrictions on the use of adverbial clauses	2542
16.4.	Bibliographical notes	2544

Chapter 17Projection of noun phrases III: Binominal constructions 2549*Introduction 2552*17.1. Binominal constructions without a preposition 2552*17.1.1. Quantificational constructions: een paar boeken 'a couple of books' 2552*17.1.1.1. Types of N₁s and N₂s 2553*I. Types of N₁s 2553*II. Types of N₂s 2554*17.1.1.2. The head of the quantificational construction 2556*I. Determining the syntactic head of the construction 2556*A. Subject-verb (number) agreement 2556*B. Demonstrative pronouns (gender/number agreement) 2558*C. Conclusion 2560*II. N₁ and N₂ as the semantic head of the construction 2560*A. Semantic selection restrictions of the verb 2560*B. Attributive modification 2562*C. Binding 2564*III. The quantificational and referential interpretation of N₁ 2565*IV. Summary 2566*17.1.1.3. Properties of N₁ 2566*I. Morphological properties 2567*A. Pluralization 2567*B. Diminutive formation 2570*C. Nominal compounds 2571*D. Conclusion 2572*II. Syntactic properties: determiners and prenominal modifiers 2572*A. Articles 2572*B. Demonstrative pronouns 2574*C. Possessive pronouns 2575*D. Quantifiers and cardinal numerals 2576*E. Attributive adjectives 2578*F. Summary 2579*G. A note on recursive quantificational binominal constructions 2580*III. Some semantic properties 2583*A. The quantificational force of N₁s 2583*B. Weak versus strong quantification constructions 2584*C. Definite and indefinite N₁s 2585*IV. Some similarities between N₁s and cardinal numerals 2586*A. Quantitative er 2586*B. Modification 2588*C. Scope and coordination 2589*D. Conclusion 2590*17.1.1.4. The projection of N₂ 2590*I. Determiners 2590*II. Proper nouns and pronouns 2591*III. Complementation and modification 2591*IV. Numerals and quantifiers 2592*V. Initial coordination 2592*VI. Movement 2593*VII. Quantitative er 2593

17.1.1.5.	Modification of quantificational binominal constructions	2593
	I. Attributive adjectives	2593
	II. Prepositional phrases	2595
	III. Relative clauses	2596
	IV. Conclusion	2598
17.1.2.	Non-quantificational constructions: een soort boek 'a kind of book'	2599
	I. Gender (demonstratives)	2600
	II. Compounding	2601
	III. Pluralization	2601
	IV. Articles	2602
	V. Insertion of van 'of' and attributive modification	2603
	VI. Characterization of N ₂	2604
	A. The syntactic status of N ₂ (number agreement)	2604
	B. The semantic status of N ₂	2605
	C. The Number marking of N ₂	2605
	VII. Conclusion	2606
17.1.3.	Other constructions	2606
	I. Binominal constructions that can be used as vocatives and arguments	2607
	II. Binominal constructions that can only be used as arguments	2609
	III. Unclear cases	2612
17.2.	Binominal constructions with a preposition	2613
17.2.1.	The N-van-een-N 'N-of-a-N' construction	2613
	I. The relation between the two nouns (number agreement between the two nouns)	2615
	II. The semantic head of the construction	2616
	III. The syntactic head of the construction (number agreement with the finite verb)	2616
	IV. Articles and other determiners preceding N ₁ (gender agreement)	2617
	V. Modification of the nouns	2619
	VI. The article een preceding N ₂	2621
	VII. The preposition van	2622
	VIII. Syntactic distribution	2623
17.2.2.	The interrogative wat-voor 'what kind of' construction	2623
17.2.2.1.	The meaning of the wat-voor construction	2623
17.2.2.2.	Internal structure and distribution of the wat-voor construction	2625
	I. The string wat voor (een) N is a constituent	2625
	II. The semantic head of the construction	2626
	III. The syntactic head of the construction	2627
	IV. The status of the string wat voor een	2627
	A. The article een	2627
	B. The preposition voor	2629
	C. The wat-voor split	2629
	V. Modification	2630
	VI. Syntactic distribution	2631
17.2.2.3.	The wat-voor split	2631
	I. The syntactic function of the split phrase	2631
	A. Direct objects	2632
	B. Subjects	2632
	C. Indirect objects	2636
	D. Complements of a preposition	2637
	E. Nominal predicates	2637
	II. The status of wat : parasitic gaps and intervention effects	2637
	A. Parasitic gaps	2638
	B. Intervention effects	2639
	C. The wat-voor split and universally and existentially quantified expressions	2640
17.3.	Bibliographical notes	2642

Chapter 18Determiners: Articles and pronouns*2645

Introduction	2649
18.1. Articles	2652
18.1.1. Noun phrases headed by an article	2653
18.1.1.1. The core meaning of the articles	2653
18.1.1.2. Definiteness and indefiniteness	2658
I. Definite noun phrases	2659
II. Indefinite noun phrases	2660
III. Special cases	2660
A. Common knowledge	2661
B. Inalienable possession	2661
C. Semantically implied and inferable entities	2662
D. Invited inferences	2662
E. Conclusion	2663
18.1.1.3. Specificity and non-specificity	2663
18.1.1.4. Distributivity	2665
18.1.1.5. Genericity	2667
I. Count nouns	2667
A. Definite versus indefinite articles	2668
B. Definite articles	2669
C. Indefinite articles	2674
II. Non-count nouns	2677
A. Generic and non-generic readings	2677
B. Distributional restrictions on the generic readings	2681
18.1.1.6. Summary	2683
18.1.2. Noun phrases without an article	2684
18.1.2.1. Proper nouns	2684
I. Articles that are part of the proper noun	2685
II. Modified proper nouns	2685
A. Restrictive modifiers	2685
B. Non-restrictive modifiers	2686
III. Type versus token readings	2687
IV. "For instance" reading	2689
V. Representative of proper noun set	2689
VI. "A certain"	2690
VII. Prototypical/metaphorical reading	2690
VIII. "Effected object" reading	2691
18.1.2.2. Vocatives	2692
18.1.2.3. Special cases	2694
I. N+V collocations	2694
II. Locational P + N collocations	2696
III. Coordination	2696
IV. Conclusion	2698
18.1.3. Definite articles with acronyms and abbreviations	2698

18.1.4.	Deviant semantics	2700
18.1.4.1.	Complex verbal predicates	2700
	I. Indefinite noun phrases	2700
	A. Een boek lezen 'to read a book'	2700
	B. Light verb constructions: een kus geven 'to give a kiss'	2701
	II. Weak definites: de krant lezen 'to read the paper'	2702
	A. Non-unique reference and out-of-the-blue contexts	2703
	B. Restrictions on the lexical domain	2705
	C. Syntactic distribution of weak definites	2711
	III. Special cases	2713
	A. Idioms	2713
	B. Noun phrases referring to a mental/physical condition	2714
	C. Impersonal/locational krioelen 'swarm' constructions	2714
18.1.4.2.	The definite article in inalienable possession constructions	2716
	I. Non-locational constructions	2716
	II. Locational constructions	2716
	A. Dative possessors	2717
	B. Nominative possessors	2718
	C. Accusative possessors	2719
	D. Located argument	2721
	E. The definite article	2721
	III. Idioms	2723
18.1.4.3.	Articles in evaluative contexts	2724
	I. The spurious indefinite article een	2724
	II. Stressed definite articles: Par-excellence reading	2725
18.1.4.4.	Articles in noun phrases involving measurement	2727
	I. Definite articles followed by a measure unit	2727
	A. Distributive article de/het and the preposition per	2727
	B. Definite articles followed by nouns denoting time intervals	2728
	II. Definite and indefinite articles construed with numerals	2729
	A. Preposition + definite article de + NUMERAL	2729
	B. Indefinite article + numeral: approximative use	2731
18.1.5.	The negative article/quantifier geen 'no'	2732
18.1.5.1.	The semantics of geen 'no'	2734
	I. Negative quantification and scope	2734
	A. Scope outside the containing noun phrase	2734
	B. Scope over the containing noun phrase: contrastive constructions	2736
	C. Scope inside the containing noun phrase	2739
	D. No scope over a noun phrase external constituent	2739
	E. Conclusion	2740
	II. Specificity and genericity	2740
	III. Special semantics	2741
	A. "Not a single" reading	2742
	B. Negative concord	2746
	C. Evaluative use	2748
	D. Degree reading	2749
	E. Non-negative questions	2749
18.1.5.2.	Distribution of geen inside the noun phrase	2750
	I. Geen and noun phrase types	2750
	II. Geen and personal pronouns and proper nouns	2754
	III. Restrictions on accompanying determiners and quantificational elements	2755
	A. Determiners	2755
	B. Quantifiers and numerals	2756
	C. Geen preceding attributive adjectives, and inflection	2756

18.1.5.3.	The syntactic distribution of (noun phrases containing) geen	2757
	I. Distribution of noun phrases quantified by geen	2757
	A. Distribution as argument	2757
	B. Distribution as predicate	2758
	C. Distribution as adjunct	2759
	II. Distribution of geen as an independent constituent	2759
	A. Distribution as argument	2759
	B. Distribution as predicate and adjunct	2760
	C. Distribution as floating quantifier	2760
18.2.	Pronouns	2761
18.2.1.	Personal pronouns	2763
18.2.1.1.	Referential personal pronouns	2763
	I. The different forms of the referential personal pronouns	2763
	A. The main forms	2763
	B. The special form men 'one'	2766
	C. Special uses of some regular forms	2766
	II. Interpretation	2767
	A. Deictic pronouns	2767
	B. Anaphoric pronouns	2767
	C. Bound pronouns	2768
	D. Impersonal het	2771
	III. Nominal features	2771
	A. First-person and second-person pronouns	2772
	B. Third-person pronouns	2772
	IV. Subject and object forms	2773
	V. Weak and strong forms	2775
	A. Emphasis	2775
	B. Pronouns in the clause-initial position	2775
	C. Semantic restrictions	2776
	D. Special syntactic environments	2778
	E. Special uses	2780
	VI. Modification	2781
18.2.1.2.	Interrogative personal pronouns	2783
	I. Syntactic distribution	2783
	II. Nominal features	2784
	III. Definiteness	2786
	IV. Modification	2787
18.2.1.3.	Quantificational personal pronouns	2787
	I. Meaning	2788
	II. Nominal features	2789
	III. Non-specific and specific readings of the existential pronouns	2790
	IV. Negative existential subject pronouns	2792
	V. Syntactic distribution	2793
	VI. Modification	2795
18.2.1.4.	Relative personal pronouns	2797
	I. D-group	2797
	II. W-pronouns	2798
	III. The R-pronoun waar + P	2799
	IV. Conclusion	2799
18.2.1.5.	Reflexive and reciprocal personal pronouns	2799
	I. The reflexive pronouns	2799
	II. The reciprocal pronoun elkaar 'each other'	2802
18.2.1.6.	Conclusion	2804

ToC		5001
18.2.2.	Possessive pronouns	2804
18.2.2.1.	Classification	2805
	I. Referential possessive pronouns	2806
	II. Interrogative and relative possessive pronouns	2808
	III. Quantificational possessive pronouns	2809
	IV. Reciprocal possessive pronouns	2810
	V. Other cases	2810
18.2.2.2.	Interpretation	2812
	I. Partitioning of the denotation set of the head noun	2812
	II. Semantic relations between the pronoun and the noun phrase	2815
	A. Inferred relations	2816
	B. Thematic relations	2816
18.2.2.3.	Weak versus strong forms	2817
18.2.2.4.	Special cases	2818
	I. The semi-genitival construction: Jan z 'n boek ‘Jan’s book’	2818
	II. Seemingly inflected possessive pronouns	2822
	III. Idioms and fixed combinations	2824
	A. Vocatives and salutations	2824
	B. Evaluative use of possessive pronouns	2824
	C. Par-excellence reading	2824
	D. Collocations	2825
18.2.2.5.	Differences between possessive pronouns and possessive van -PPs	2826
18.2.3.	Demonstrative pronouns	2828
18.2.3.1.	Classification	2828
	I. Demonstratives as modifiers	2829
	A. Non-interrogative demonstratives	2829
	B. Interrogative demonstratives	2832
	II. Demonstratives as arguments	2834
	A. Demonstrative pronouns used as modifiers and as arguments	2834
	B. Demonstrative pronouns only used as arguments	2836
	C. N-ellipsis: an apparent case of independently used demonstratives	2837
	III. The demonstrative dat as a predicate	2838
18.2.3.2.	Special cases	2838
	I. Idiomatic case-inflected forms	2838
	II. Distal demonstrative pronouns	2839
	A. Distal demonstratives referring to [+HUMAN] entities	2839
	B. Distal demonstratives in conversation and narratives	2847
	C. Distal demonstratives in imperatives	2848
	D. Distal demonstratives in evaluative contexts	2849
	E. Spurious distal demonstratives	2850
	III. Proximate demonstrative pronouns	2850
	IV. The non-D-linked demonstratives zo 'n and zulke used as amplifiers	2851
	V. The emphatic modifier zelf ‘himself’	2852
18.2.4.	Conclusion	2856
18.3.	Bibliographical notes	2856

Chapter 19Numerals and quantifiers*2863

Introduction	2866
19.1. Numerals	2867
19.1.1. Cardinal numerals	2867
19.1.1.1. Syntactic category	2867
19.1.1.2. Morphology: simplex and complex forms	2869
19.1.1.3. Semantics	2877
19.1.1.4. Noun phrases containing a cardinal numeral	2879
I. The head noun	2879
A. Substance nouns	2880
B. Measure nouns	2880
C. Other cases	2884
II. The determiner	2885
III. The position of the cardinal numeral within the noun phrase	2886
19.1.1.5. Modification of the cardinal numeral	2887
I. Adverbials: [[bijna honderd] boeken] ‘nearly a hundred books’	2887
II. Approximative indefinite noun phrases	2888
A. [[een kleine honderd] Num boeken] ‘about a hundred books’	2888
B. Een boek of honderd ‘about a hundred books’	2890
III. Approximative PPs: [[PP rond de honderd] euro]] ‘about a hundred euros’	2891
A. The head of the prepositional phrase	2893
B. Modification of the prenominal PP	2894
C. Syntactic behavior	2894
IV. A problematic case	2896
19.1.1.6. Special cases	2897
I. Cardinals as apparent clausal constituents: Jan is achttien ‘Jan is eighteen’	2898
II. Cardinals with -en : pluralization?	2900
III. Constructions types with seemingly pluralized cardinals	2901
A. Number of parts: Het schip brak in drieën ‘The ship broke into three parts’	2901
B. Appositive collective: wij/ons drieën ‘the three of us’	2902
C. Collective adverbial: met ons vieren/viertjes ‘the four of us’	2904
IV. Cardinal numerals in “names”	2912
V. Some remarks and open questions	2913
19.1.2. Ordinal numerals	2915
I. Simple and compound forms	2915
II. Semantics	2917
A. Use as prenominal modifiers	2918
B. Use in fractions	2919
III. The position of the ordinal numeral within the noun phrase	2920
IV. Special uses: de derde juni ‘the third of June’	2921
19.2. Quantifiers	2922
19.2.1. Introduction	2922
I. Core semantics	2923
II. Strong and weak quantifiers	2924
III. Logical properties of quantifiers: valid inference patterns	2925
IV. Syntactic use as modifier or as independent argument	2926
V. The internal structure of quantified noun phrases	2927

19.2.2.	Universal quantifiers: ieder/elk ‘every’ and alle ‘all’	2928
	I. Use as modifier	2928
	A. Syntactic function	2929
	B. Number	2930
	C. Distributivity versus collectivity	2931
	D. Ordinal numerals	2932
	E. Generic use	2932
	F. Agreement	2933
	G. Non-count nouns	2934
	II. Use as argument	2935
	III. Use as floating quantifier	2936
19.2.3.	Existential quantifiers: sommige ‘some’ and enkele ‘some’	2939
	I. Use as modifier	2939
	A. Enkele ‘some’ and sommige ‘some’	2941
	B. Wat ‘some’	2942
	C. Other cases	2943
	D. Special uses of the existential quantifiers	2946
	II. Use as argument	2947
	A. Enkele ‘some’ and sommige ‘some’	2948
	B. Wat ‘some’	2949
	C. Other cases	2950
19.2.4.	Degree quantifiers: veel ‘many/much’ and weinig ‘few/little’	2952
	I. Use as pronominal modifier	2952
	A. High-degree and low-degree quantifiers	2952
	B. Voldoende ‘sufficient’, genoeg ‘enough’ and zat ‘plenty’	2955
	II. Use as independent argument	2957
19.2.5.	Modification of quantifiers	2962
	I. Universal quantifiers	2962
	II. Negative existential quantifiers	2963
	III. Degree quantifiers	2963
19.2.6.	A note on the adverbial use of degree quantifiers	2965
19.3.	Quantitative er constructions	2969
	I. The antecedent of the interpretive gap [e]	2969
	II. The quantificational element	2971
	III. The syntactic nature of the interpretive gap	2972
	A. The interpretive gap is the result of deletion	2973
	B. The interpretive gap is base-generated as a pronominal element pro	2974
	C. The interpretive gap is the result of movement	2974
	D. Quantitative er and N-ellipsis	2978
19.4.	Partitive and pseudo-partitive constructions	2979
	I. Partitive and pseudo-partitive constructions	2979
	A. Partitive constructions	2980
	B. Pseudo-partitive constructions	2983
	II. Similarities and differences	2984
	A. The preposition van	2985
	B. The demonstrative die/dat	2988
	C. Definiteness of the complement of van	2990
	III. Conclusion	2990
19.5.	Bibliographical notes	2990

Chapter 20

Predeterminers

2997

Introduction	3000
20.1. The universal quantifier al 'all' and its alternants	3002
20.1.1. Semantics of bare al 'all' and inflected alle 'all'	3002
I. Core semantics: universal quantification	3003
II. Specificity/genericity	3003
III. High-degree quantification	3004
IV. Weak and strong quantifiers	3005
20.1.2. Distribution of al/alle 'all' inside the noun phrase	3006
20.1.2.1. Bare al 'all'	3006
I. Bare al and noun phrase types	3006
II. Restrictions on accompanying determiners and quantificational elements	3008
A. Determiners	3009
B. Indefinite determiner-like elements	3011
C. Quantifiers and numerals	3011
D. Personal pronouns and proper nouns	3013
20.1.2.2. Inflected alle 'all'	3014
I. Inflected alle + cardinal numeral	3014
A. Predeterminer alle and noun phrase types	3014
B. Restrictions on accompanying determiners and quantificational elements	3015
II. Inflected simplex alle	3019
A. Simplex alle and noun phrase types	3020
B. Restrictions on co-occurring determiners and quantificational elements	3023
20.1.3. Distribution of noun phrases modified by al/alle 'all'	3028
I. Distribution as arguments	3028
II. Distribution as predicates	3029
III. Distribution as adjuncts	3030
20.1.4. Distribution of al/alle 'all' as independent constituents	3031
I. Distribution as arguments	3031
A. Subject	3032
B. Direct/indirect object	3033
C. Object of preposition	3034
D. A remark on alles 'everything'	3036
II. Distribution as predicates and adjuncts	3037
III. Distribution as floating quantifiers	3038
A. Al 'all'	3038
B. Alle 'all' + Num and allebei 'both'	3039
C. Alle(n) 'all' and beide(n) 'both'	3040
20.1.5. A special case: Allemaal 'all'	3042
20.1.5.1. The use of allemaal 'all' as a modifier of a noun phrase	3042
I. Distribution of allemaal inside the noun phrase	3042
II. Semantics	3044
A. Sorting ("all kinds/sorts of")	3044
B. High-degree quantification ("lots of")	3044
C. Very high-degree quantification ("nothing but")	3045
III. Restrictions on accompanying determiners and quantificational elements	3045
IV. Allemaal , definiteness and inflection	3047

20.1.5.2.	The use of allemaal ‘all’ as an independent constituent	3048
	I. Distribution as argument and predicate	3048
	II. Distribution as modifier and floating quantifier	3049
	A. Subject and object	3049
	B. Complement of PP	3051
	C. Predicate	3053
	III. The distribution of allemaal and allerlei contrasted	3054
20.2.	The predeterminer heel ‘all/whole’	3054
20.2.1.	Semantics of heel ‘all/whole’	3055
20.2.1.1.	Predeterminer bare heel	3055
	I. Core semantics: exhaustive partitioning of structured units	3055
	A. Structured unit	3055
	B. Partitioning	3058
	C. Exhaustivity	3058
	II. Negative polarity	3060
20.2.1.2.	Postdeterminer inflectible heel	3061
	I. Adjectival heel	3061
	II. Postdeterminer quantificational heel	3063
	A. Totality	3063
	B. Degree	3065
	C. Negative polarity	3070
20.2.2.	Distribution of heel ‘all/whole’ inside the noun phrase	3087
20.2.2.1.	Predeterminer bare heel	3088
	I. Bare heel and noun phrase types	3088
	II. Restrictions on accompanying determiners and quantificational elements	3091
	A. Determiners	3091
	B. Indefinite determiner-like elements	3093
	C. Quantifiers and cardinal numerals	3094
	D. Personal pronouns and proper nouns	3095
20.2.2.2.	Postdeterminer inflectible heel	3095
	I. Adjectival heel	3096
	II. Quantificational heel	3097
	A. Quantificational inflectible heel and noun phrase types	3097
	B. Restrictions on accompanying determiners and quantificational elements	3100
20.2.2.3.	Heel/hele versus geheel/gehele	3105
20.2.3.	Distribution of noun phrases quantified by heel ‘all/whole’	3107
	I. Distribution as arguments	3107
	A. Subject	3107
	B. Direct and indirect object	3108
	C. Complement of preposition	3109
	II. Distribution as predicates	3109
	III. Distribution as adjuncts	3110
20.2.4.	Distribution of heel ‘all/whole’ as independent constituents	3112
	I. Distribution as arguments	3112
	A. Bare heel	3112
	B. Inflected hele	3112
	C. Geheel	3112
	II. Distribution as predicates	3113
	III. Distribution as adjuncts and floating quantifiers	3113
20.3.	A note on focus particles	3116
20.4.	Bibliographical notes	3117

Chapter 21Syntactic uses of noun phrases 3119

Introduction	3121
21.1. Noun phrases as arguments	3121
21.1.1. Syntactic functions of noun phrases	3121
21.1.2. Subject noun phrases in expletive er constructions	3123
I. Specific/non-specific readings	3124
II. Partitive/non-partitive readings	3128
III. Generic/non-generic readings	3129
IV. Conclusion	3130
21.1.3. Noun phrases in the clause-initial position	3130
I. Wh -movement in questions	3131
A. Wh -movement is near-obligatory	3131
B. Superiority effects in multiple questions	3132
C. Long wh -movement and subject-object asymmetries	3133
II. Wh -movement in topicalization constructions	3134
A. Topicalization of subject and object pronouns	3134
B. Information structure	3136
C. Long topicalization	3137
21.1.4. Object noun phrases in the middle field: A-scrambling	3138
I. Clauses containing a clause adverbial	3140
A. Definite noun phrases	3141
B. Referential personal pronouns	3142
C. Indefinite noun phrases	3144
D. Quantified noun phrases and quantifiers	3146
E. Interplay of indirect and direct objects	3150
F. Interplay of subjects and other arguments	3152
II. Clauses containing a VP adverbial	3154
III. Clauses containing a high clause adverbial	3156
IV. Clauses containing the negative adverb niet 'not'	3157
V. Conclusion	3160
21.2. Predicative use of noun phrases	3161
21.2.1. Nominal predicates	3161
I. The set/subset relation	3162
II. The identification relation	3162
III. Nominal predicates introduced by als/tot	3166
21.2.2. Noun phrases denoting a profession or social function	3168
I. No article → capacity	3168
II. Definite article → uniqueness in context	3171
III. Indefinite article een → subjective and/or characteristic	3171
IV. Differences between the three types of nominal predicates	3173
A. Modification of the predicate by means of the PP van beroep 'by profession'	3173
B. The nominal predicate as SUBJECT of a nominal predicate headed by beroep	3173
C. Pluralization	3174
D. Modifiers	3174
E. Placement	3175
21.2.3. Copular constructions with a singular neuter pronoun as subject	3176

ToC		5007
21.3.	Adverbial use of noun phrases	3180
21.3.1.	Temporal phrases	3180
	I. Definite noun phrases	3180
	A. Adverbially used noun phrases referring to a time interval	3181
	B. Adverbially used noun phrases referring to a certain point on the time axis	3181
	C. Differences between nominal time adverbials and the direct object	3182
	II. Indefinite noun phrases	3183
	III. Quantified noun phrases	3183
	IV. Names of days, months, seasons, etc.	3184
	A. Names of days	3185
	B. Names of months	3186
	C. Names of seasons	3186
	D. Names of other conventional time units	3187
21.3.2.	Non-temporal adverbial phrases	3188
21.4.	Bibliographical notes	3189

Chapter 22Referential dependencies (binding) 3195*Introduction 3197*22.1. Binding theory 3197

I. The classical version of binding theory 3197

II. What is binding? 3201

A. Accidental coreference 3201

B. Syntactic Binding 3206

C. Split antecedents (Uniqueness condition on binding) 3209

22.2. The c-command constraint on binding 3210

I. Reflexive and reciprocal personal pronouns (anaphors) 3211

A. Distribution of reflexive and reciprocal pronouns; some differences 3211

B. Subjects as antecedents of an anaphor 3213

C. Nominal objects as antecedents of an anaphor 3214

D. PP-complements and adjuncts as antecedents of an anaphor 3220

E. Anaphor binding and A-movement 3222

F. The ranking of PP-complements and PP-adjuncts on the GF-hierarchy 3226

II. Referential personal pronouns 3229

A. The subject as an antecedent of the referential pronoun 3230

B. The direct object as an antecedent of the referential pronoun 3231

C. The indirect object as an antecedent of the referential pronoun 3232

D. PP-complements as antecedents of an anaphor 3233

E. The ranking of PP-complements and PP-adjuncts on the GF-hierarchy 3234

III. Referential possessive pronouns 3235

A. C-command and locality 3236

B. Generic, quantified and interrogative antecedents 3239

C. The c-command constraint on binding 3241

D. A remark on the modifier eigen 'own' 324622.3. Local domains 3248

I. The mutual exclusion of anaphors and referential pronouns 3248

A. Complex SELF-forms in non-argument position 3248

B. Noun-phrase internal possessors 3252

C. Complements of picture nouns 3253

II. Anaphoric domains 3255

A. Complete functional complexes 3256

B. The logical SUBJECT of complete functional complexes 3259

C. Adverbial phrases 3261

D. Concluding remarks 3261

22.4. Simplex (weak) reflexives 326122.4.1. Simplex reflexives as anaphors 3264

I. Complements of a small clause 3265

II. Nominal and prepositional objects of the infinitival verb in Acl-constructions 3267

III. Logical SUBJECTS of a small clause 3270

IV. Potential problematic cases 3271

A. Dative reflexives 3272

B. Complements of picture nouns 3273

C. Personal pronouns functioning as part of an adverbial phrase 3273

22.4.2.	Alternative approaches to simplex reflexives	3274
	I. The simplex reflexive zich as a case absorber	3275
	II. The pronoun zich as a possessum	3279
	A. Inalienable possession and reflexive verb constructions	3279
	B. Entailments	3280
	C. Formalization	3284
	D. Conclusion	3286
	III. The simplex reflexive zich in constructions with a non-reflexive verb	3286
	A. Logical SUBJECTS of small clauses	3287
	B. Zich as the complement of a small-clause complement	3287
	C. Zich embedded in an infinitival clause of AcI-construction	3289
	D. A residual problem: adverbial locational PPs	3295
22.5.	Bibliographical notes	3298
	Glossary (Part II: noun phrases)	3303
	References (Part II: noun phrases)	3349

PART III

Adjectives and adjective phrases

3373

Introduction to Part III

3377

Chapter 23Adjectives: characteristics and classification*3379

Introduction

3381

23.1. Syntactic uses

3382

I. Attributive use of the adjective

3382

II. Predicative use of the adjective

3383

A. Complementives

3384

B. Supplementives

3385

C. Appositives

3386

III. Partitive genitive use of the adjective

3387

IV. Adverbial use of the adjective

3387

23.2. Inflection: the attributive -e ending

3388

23.3. A semantic classification

3391

23.3.1. Set-denoting, relational, and evaluative adjectives and the residue

3391

I. A brief characterization of the four adjectival classes

3391

II. Distinctive properties of set-denoting adjectives

3394

III. Summary

3395

23.3.2. Set-denoting adjectives

3396

23.3.2.1. The set-denoting property

3396

I. Attributive and predicative uses

3397

A. Intersection and inclusion

3397

B. Restrictive and non-restrictive uses of attributive adjectives

3398

C. Supplementives and appositions

3401

D. A note on complex proper nouns and classifying adjectives

3401

II. Adverbial use

3403

23.3.2.2. Semantic classification

3404

I. Scales and scalar adjectives

3404

A. Antonymous adjectives

3405

B. Context dependent adjectives—the neutral zone

3408

C. Subjective/objective adjectives

3410

D. Measure adjectives—the (non)neutral form of antonymous adjectives

3411

E. Positively/negatively valued adjectives

3412

F. Truly antonymous adjectives and the licensing of negative polarity items

3413

II. Absolute (non-scalar) adjectives

3416

III. The distinction between gradable and scalar adjectives

3418

IV. Stage/individual-level adjectives

3421

23.3.2.3. A morphological classification

3423

23.3.3. Relational adjectives

3424

I. A morphological classification

3424

II. Geographical and place adjectives: Turks ‘Turkish’

3424

III. Movement/trend adjectives: kapitalistisch ‘capitalist’

3428

IV. Time/frequency adjectives: maandelijks ‘monthly’

3430

V. Substance adjectives: houten ‘wooden’

3434

VI. Other cases

3435

23.3.4. Evaluative adjectives

3436

23.3.5.	The residue	3438
	I. Modal adjectives	3438
	II. Amplifiers	3438
	III. Quantifiers	3440
	IV. Restrictors	3440
	V. Adjectives related to adverbial phrases	3440
	VI. Non-prototypical use of set-denoting adjectives	3441
23.4.	Bibliographical notes	3442

Chapter 24Projection of adjective phrases I: Complementation*3445

Introduction

3446

24.1. Prepositional complements

3446

I. Prepositional complements: Adjective + P-NP

3447

II. Clauses introduced by the anticipatory PP-complement er + P

3451

A. Finite clauses

3451

B. Infinitival clauses

3453

III. A brief remark on adjectives modified by te, genoeg, and voldoende

3454

24.2. Nominal complements

3455

I. Genitive and dative nominal complements

3455

A. The case of nominal complements

3455

B. The obligatoriness of the nominal complement

3458

C. Order of the subject of the clause and nominal complements of adjectives

3459

D. Constituency of the adjective and the nominal complement

3460

E. Dative complements of adjectives modified by te 'too' and genoeg 'enough'

3461

F. Some less clear cases

3462

II. Clauses introduced by the anticipatory pronoun het

3462

24.3. Discontinuous adjective phrases

3464

24.3.1. Movement of the PP-complement

3464

I. PP-over-V

3464

II. PP-preposing

3465

A. Wh-movement

3466

B. Focus/topic and negation movement

3466

III. Exceptional cases: pseudo-participles and deverbal adjectives

3471

A. PP-A orders in sentence-initial position

3471

B. R-extraction from the PP-complement

3473

C. The position of the PP-complement with respect to degree modifiers

3474

D. On the categorial status of pseudo-participles and deverbal adjectives

3475

E. Another brief note on preposition stranding

3476

F. Concluding remark

3477

24.3.2. Movement of the nominal complement

3477

24.4. Pronominalization of the adjective (phrase)

3479

24.5. Bibliographical notes

3480

Chapter 25Projection of adjective phrases II: Modification*3483

Introduction	3485
25.1. Modification of scalar adjectives	3485
25.1.1. On the semantics of scalar adjectives	3485
25.1.2. Modification by a degree modifier	3487
I. Amplification	3488
A. Adverbs	3489
B. APs	3490
C. Noun phrases	3495
D. PPs	3495
E. Other means of amplification	3496
II. Downtoning	3500
A. Adverbs	3500
B. APs	3501
C. Noun phrases	3502
D. PPs	3503
E. Other means of downtoning	3504
III. Neutral degree modification	3505
IV. The interrogative degree modifier hoe 'how'	3505
A. Interrogative hoe as modifier of a set-denoting adjective	3506
B. Interrogative hoe as modifier of a degree modifier	3506
V. The exclamative marker wat 'how'	3509
A. Complementives	3510
B. Supplementives	3512
C. Attributively used adjectives	3513
D. Adverbially used adjectives	3516
25.1.3. Modification by a complex degree modifier	3518
I. Degree phrases headed by zo	3519
A. Zo without a complement	3519
B. Zo + finite clause	3522
C. Zo + infinitival clause	3524
D. Zo + mogelijk 'possible'	3528
E. Zo + als phrase	3529
II. Degree phrases headed by te 'too'	3536
III. Degree phrases headed by (on)voldoende '(in)sufficiently'	3543
IV. Degree phrases headed by genoeg 'enough'	3547
25.1.4. Modification of measure adjectives	3551
I. Modification by a degree modifier	3551
II. Modification by a nominal measure phrase	3552
A. The positive form of the measure adjectives	3552
B. Measure adjectives modified by te 'too' and comparatives	3555
C. Extraction of the nominal measure phrase	3557
25.2. Modification of absolute adjectives	3558
I. Differences between scalar and absolute adjectives	3559
II. Approximative modifiers	3561
III. Absolute modifiers	3564

ToC		5015
25.3.	Negative and affirmative contexts	3565
	I. Negation and affirmation	3565
	II. Other uses of the elements wel/niet	3570
	A. The use of wel as a downtoner	3570
	B. Litotes	3571
	III. Quasi-negation	3573
	IV. Negative Polarity	3574
25.4.	Pronominalization of the adjective	3576
25.5.	Special cases of modification	3580
	I. Postadjectival van -PP	3580
	A. The construction groot van gestalte ‘big in stature’	3581
	B. The construction rood van opwinding ‘red with excitement’	3583
	II. Transparent free relative clauses	3586
	III. VP adverbials	3587
	IV. The sequence vol ‘full’ + NP	3588
25.6.	Bibliographical notes	3590

Chapter 26Projection of adjective phrases III: Comparison*3593

Introduction

3595

26.1. Equative, comparative and superlative formation

3596

26.1.1. Overview

3597

I. Positive degree

3597

II. Majorative and maximative: comparison to a higher degree

3597

III. Equative: comparison to the same degree

3603

IV. Minorative and minimative: comparison to a lower degree

3604

V. Summary

3604

26.1.2. The periphrastic majorative/maximative

3605

I. Adjectives ending in /st/

3605

II. Adjectives ending in /ə/

3606

III. Pseudo-participles and participles III

3606

IV. Emphasis

3608

V. Two alleged cases of periphrastic majoratives/maximatives

3608

A. Attributively used past/passive participles

3609

B. Comparison of two adjectives

3611

26.1.3. The comparative als/dan/van-phrase

3612

I. Comparative deletion construction

3614

A. The complement of comparative als/dan/van-phrases

3614

B. The reduced clause in als/dan-phrases

3616

C. The nature of the interpretive gap

3618

II. Comparative subdeletion

3619

A. Support for the presence of an empty degree phrase Δ

3619

B. The nature of the interpretive gap

3620

C. Complement of the als/dan-phrase

3622

III. Als/dan-phrases without comparative (sub)deletion

3623

IV. The categorial status of als/dan

3625

V. Placement of the als/dan/van-phrase

3627

A. Adjectives without a prepositional complement

3627

B. Adjectives with a prepositional complement

3629

C. Pseudo-participles and deverbal adjectives

3630

26.1.4. Comparison of adjectives with adjectives

3632

I. The adjectives imply commensurable scales

3632

II. The adjectives allow modification by a nominal measure phrase

3633

A. Equatives

3634

B. Comparatives

3634

26.2. Syntactic uses of equatives, comparatives and superlatives

3635

I. Attributive use

3635

A. Superlative form

3636

B. Equative form

3637

C. Comparative form

3637

II. Predicative use

3638

III. Adverbial use

3642

IV. The partitive genitive construction

3646

ToC		5017
26.3.	Comparison and degree modification	3646
26.3.1.	Comparison and degree modification of pseudo-participles	3646
26.3.2.	Modification of the comparative/superlative	3649
	I. Comparatives compared to the complex modifier headed by te 'too'	3649
	A. Similarities in modification	3649
	B. Differences in modification	3650
	II. Superlatives compared to the complex modifier headed by zo	3652
	A. Similarities in modification	3653
	B. Differences in modification	3653
26.4.	Pronominalization of the adjective	3658
26.5.	Bibliographical notes	3659

Chapter 27Attributive use of the adjective phrase 3661*Introduction 3663*27.1. Inflection 3663*27.1.1. The inflectional paradigm 3663

I. Features of the noun (phrase) 3663

II. Phonological constraints 3665

A. Long vowels 3665

B. Diphthong 3666

C. Schwa 3666

III. Conclusion 3667

27.1.2. Exceptions to the inflectional paradigm 3668

I. Loanwords 3668

II. Geographical adjectives ending in -er 3669

III. Non-intersective meaning units 3669

A. Type het stoffelijk overschot 'the corpse' 3670B. Type de maatschappelijk werker 'the social worker' 3672C. Type een groot keizer 'a great emperor' 3675

IV. Prosody 3677

V. The pronoun iemand 'somebody' and the noun persoon 'person' 367827.2. Attributive adjectives versus other pronominal elements 3678

I. Position with respect to the determiner and the head noun 3679

II. Pronominal numerals and quantifiers 3680

A. Numerals 3680

B. Quantifiers 3681

III. Possessive pronouns 3684

IV. Pronominal adverbs 3685

V. Attributive adjectives versus adjective-noun compounds 3688

27.3. Attributive complex adjective phrases 3688

I. Adjective phrases with a complement 3689

A. Adjectives with a nominal complement 3689

B. Adjectives with a PP-complement 3692

II. Modified adjective phrases 3695

A. Postadjectival als/dan/van-phrases and degree clauses 3695B. Degree modifiers: genoeg 'enough' and zo ... mogelijk 'as ... as possible' 369727.4. N-ellipsis 3698I. Context-sensitive N-ellipsis: een/de/het groene (lit.: a/the green) 3702

A. N-ellipsis triggered by the non-linguistic context 3702

B. N-ellipsis triggered by the linguistic context 3703

C. N-ellipsis versus backward conjunction reduction 3707

II. Context-insensitive N-ellipsis: de/het vreemde (lit.: the strange) 3709

A. Meaning 3709

B. Restrictions 3710

C. Proposed analyses 3711

ToC		5019
27.5.	Co-occurring adjectives	3716
	I. Coordination and stacking	3716
	II. Constraints on the coordination of adjectives	3718
	III. The order of stacked adjectives	3722
	A. Set-denoting and relational adjectives	3722
	B. Evaluative/modal and set-denoting adjectives	3722
	C. Evaluative/modal and relational adjectives	3722
	D. Co-occurrence of relational adjectives	3723
	E. Co-occurrence of set-denoting adjectives	3724
	F. Summary	3725
27.6.	Bibliographical notes	3726

Chapter 28Predicative use of the adjective phrase 3729*Introduction 3731*28.1. Logical SUBJECTS 3732*28.2. Complementive use of the adjective 3735*28.2.1. Copular, resultative and vinden-constructions 3736*I. The copular construction 3736*A. The regular copular construction 3736*B. The semi-copular construction 3737*II. The resultative construction 3740*A. Impersonal verbs 3740*B. Intransitive verbs 3741*C. Unaccusative verbs 3742*D. Transitive verbs 3743*E. Special verbs 3745*III. Non-resultative constructions 3746*28.2.2. Position of the complementive adjective in the clause 3749*I. Position with respect to the verbs in clause-final position 3749*II. Focus movement, wh-movement and topicalization of the adjective 3752*III. Complementive adjectives and stranded prepositions 3753*A. The resultative versus the vinden-construction 3754*B. Modification of the complementive 3754*C. Comparative and superlative formation 3755*D. Negation 3755*E. Leftward movement of the complementive? 3756*F. Conclusion 3756*28.2.3. Special cases 3756*I. Absolute met-constructions 3757*II. Modal verb + adjective 3758*III. The verb komen 'to come' + adjective 3761*A. Properties of the interrogative komen + adjective construction 3761*B. Comparison with the komen + clause construction 3762*C. Modification of the adjective 3764*IV. The verbs hebben 'to have' and krijgen 'to get' + adjective 3765*V. Adjectives that can only be used as complementives 3765*A. Adjectives that take a non-dative nominal complement 3765*B. Adjectives obligatorily followed by a PP complement 3766*C. Verb + adjective collocations 3766*D. Groot van gestalte 'big in stature' 3768*E. Isolated cases 3768*28.2.4. Borderline and unclear cases 3769*I. The verb doen + adjective: gek doen 'to act foolish' 3769*II. The verb zien 'to look' + adjective 3771*III. More verb + adjective collocations 3774*28.3. Suppletive use of the adjective 3775*I. Differences between complementives and suppletives 3775*A. The relation between the adjective and the verbal predicate 3776*B. The noun phrase the adjective is predicated of 3777*C. The position of the adjectives within the clause 3778*II. Differences between suppletives and manner adverbs 3779

III.	Two kinds of supplementary uses	3780
A.	Supplementary-I and supplementary-II: meaning and position in the clause	3780
B.	Co-occurrence of supplementary-I and supplementary-II	3783
C.	Distribution of supplementary-I and supplementary-II	3784
D.	Topicalization/ Wh -movement of supplementary-I and supplementary-II	3787
IV.	Restrictions on the adjective and the verb	3789
A.	Restrictions on the adjective: stage-level versus individual-level predicates	3789
B.	Restrictions on the verb	3790
28.4.	Appositive use of the adjective	3792
I.	Appositively and attributively used adjectives	3792
A.	Differences between appositive and attributive adjectives	3792
B.	The hypothesis that appositives and attributives have the same source	3793
C.	Problems for the hypothesis	3796
D.	Conclusion	3798
II.	Restrictive and non-restrictive use of the appositive	3798
III.	Differences between appositives and supplementives	3800
28.5.	Non-nominal SUBJECTs	3802
28.5.1.	Clausal SUBJECTs	3802
I.	General properties	3802
A.	The relation between the anticipatory pronoun and the clausal SUBJECT	3803
B.	No anticipatory pronoun if the clausal SUBJECT is clause-initial	3803
C.	Anticipatory pronouns with clause-initial predicatively used adjectives	3804
D.	The adjective and its clausal SUBJECT cannot be preposed as a whole	3805
E.	The clausal SUBJECT follows the verb(s) in clause-final position	3805
II.	Finite clausal SUBJECTs	3805
A.	The anticipatory pronoun het 'it'	3807
B.	Interrogative clauses	3808
C.	The Resultative Construction	3810
D.	Conclusion	3810
III.	Infinitival clausal SUBJECTs	3811
A.	Obligatory control adjectives	3813
B.	Optional control adjectives	3813
C.	Arbitrary control adjectives	3815
D.	A note on adjectives that take a finite but not an infinitival clause	3815
IV.	Two special cases	3816
A.	The easy-to-please construction	3816
B.	Modal infinitives	3823
28.5.2.	PP SUBJECTs	3827
I.	Two analyses	3827
II.	PP SUBJECTs and clausal SUBJECTs	3830
III.	PP SUBJECTs of weather adjectives	3831
28.5.3.	AP SUBJECTs	3832
28.6.	Bibliographical notes	3833

Chapter 29The partitive genitive construction*3837

Introduction

3839

29.1. The structure of the partitive genitive construction

3839

I. Nominalization

3839

II. Empty noun analysis

3841

III. N-movement analysis

3844

IV. Conclusion

3846

29.2. The partitive genitive construction and its constituents

3846

29.2.1. Syntactic functions and properties

3846

I. Partitive genitive constructions trigger singular agreement on verb

3847

II. Partitive genitive constructions are indefinite

3847

III. Partitive genitive constructions can be modified by a relative clause

3848

IV. Partitive genitive constructions occurs in most regular NP-positions

3848

V. Conclusion

3849

29.2.2. The nominal part

3850

I. Class 1: [-ANIMATE] existential quantificational pronouns

3850

II. Class 2: Quantifier nouns

3851

III. Class 3: Quantifiers

3853

IV. Class 4: Wat voor leuks

3854

V. Summary

3856

29.2.3. The adjectival part

3857

I. Set-denoting adjectives

3857

A. Adjectives predicated of [+ANIMATE] entities

3857

B. Adjectives predicated of a proposition

3859

C. Weather adjectives

3860

D. Adjectives that take a nominal complement

3860

E. Superlatives

3862

F. Phonological restrictions

3863

II. Relational adjectives

3864

A. Geographical adjectives

3864

B. "Movement/trend" adjectives

3865

C. Time adjectives

3866

D. Substance adjectives

3867

E. Other cases

3867

III. Evaluative and residual adjectives

3868

29.3. Modification of the adjectival part

3869

I. Adverbial modifiers

3870

II. Nominal measure phrases

3871

III. Equatives and comparatives

3873

IV. Complex degree modifiers

3874

29.4. Two special cases: iets anders/dergelijks 'something else/similar'

3876

I. Iets anders 'something else'

3876

A. The nominal part of the construction

3876

B. Preposition stranding

3877

C. Modification

3878

II. Iets dergelijks 'something similar'

3880

29.5. Bibliographical notes

3881

Chapter 30	Adverbial use of the adjective phrase	3883
Introduction		3884
30.1.	The categorial status of adverbs	3884
30.2.	Modification in the clausal domain	3887
30.2.1.	Distinguishing between clause and VP adverbials	3887
	I. Clause adverbials	3887
	II. VP adverbials	3888
	III. Ambiguity between the two readings	3889
30.2.2.	Adverbs typically used as clause adverbials	3890
	I. Modal adverbs	3890
	II. Subjective adverbs	3891
	III. Frequency adverbs	3893
	IV. Time adverbs	3894
	V. A note on emphasizers/amplifiers	3895
	VI. The position of the clause adverbials	3897
30.2.3.	Adverbs typically used as VP adverbials	3899
	I. Manner adverbs	3899
	II. Time adverbs	3901
	III. Frequency adverbs	3902
	IV. Place adverbs	3903
	V. Degree adverbs	3903
	VI. The subject-oriented adverb graag ‘gladly’	3904
	VII. The position of VP adverbials	3905
30.2.4.	Two special cases	3906
	I. The verb wonen ‘to live’ + adjective	3906
	II. In het + adjective: In het algemeen ‘In general’	3907
30.3.	Modification of adpositional phrases	3909
	I. Locational and directional adpositional phrases	3909
	II. Temporal prepositional phrases	3912
	III. Predicative PP idioms	3913
30.4.	Modification of the noun (phrase)	3914
30.5.	Modification of adjective phrases	3915
30.6.	Bibliographical notes	3916

Chapter 31Participles and infinitives: their adjectival use 3919

Introduction	3921
31.1. General discussion	3921
I. Past/passive participles	3921
A. Attributive use	3921
B. Predicative use	3922
C. A note on pseudo-participles	3926
II. Present participles	3927
III. Modal infinitives	3927
31.2. Attributive use	3928
31.2.1. Word order within the noun phrase	3928
31.2.2. Past and present participles	3930
I. Verb types	3930
A. Transitive verbs	3930
B. Ditransitive verbs	3932
C. Intransitive verbs and verbs that take a PP-complement	3933
D. Monadic unaccusative verbs	3934
E. Dyadic unaccusative verbs	3934
F. Psychological verbs	3935
G. Verbs with a resultative complementive	3936
H. Summary	3937
I. Special cases	3937
II. Categorical status	3941
A. Past/passive participles	3942
B. Present participles	3948
C. Summary	3952
III. Tense and aspect	3952
A. Present participles	3953
B. Past/passive participles	3954
31.2.3. Modal infinitives	3954
I. Verb types	3954
II. Two types of modal infinitives	3955
A. Meaning	3956
B. Realization of the implied agent	3956
C. Degree of verbalness	3956
III. Attributive inflection	3957
IV. Concluding remark on the label modal infinitive	3958
31.3. Predicative use	3958
31.3.1. Complementive use	3958
I. Past/passive participles	3959
A. Transitive and unaccusative verbs	3960
B. Dyadic unaccusative verbs	3964
C. Object-experiencer psych-verbs	3965
D. Summary	3965
II. Present participles	3965
A. Intransitive and transitive verbs	3965
B. Monadic unaccusative verbs	3966
C. Dyadic unaccusative verbs	3968
D. Object-experiencer psych-verbs	3968
E. Summary	3969

ToC		5025
	III. Modal infinitives	3969
	A. Predicatively used modal infinitives have an ability reading only	3969
	B. Verb type	3970
	C. Categorial status	3971
	D. A potential problem	3973
31.3.2.	Supplementive use	3974
	I. Present participles	3974
	II. Past/passive participles	3976
	III. Modal infinitives	3976
31.3.3.	Appositive use	3976
31.3.4.	The partitive genitive construction	3977
	I. Past/passive participles	3977
	II. Present participles	3978
	A. Object-experiencer psych-verbs	3978
	B. Present participles of unaccusative verbs ending in -e	3979
	C. Unaccusative motion verbs	3979
	D. Problematic cases	3979
	III. Modal infinitives	3980
31.3.5.	Pseudo-participles	3981
	A. Pseudo-participles combined with the particle uit	3981
	B. Pseudo-participles combined with the particle aan	3984
	C. Het is V_{infinitive} geblazen	3985
31.4.	Adverbial use	3987
31.5.	Modification of (pseudo-)participles and deverbal adjectives	3988
	I. Past/passive and present participles	3988
	II. Pseudo-participles	3990
	III. Deverbal adjectives	3991
31.6.	Bibliographical notes	3992
	Glossary Part III	3997
	References Part III	4041

PART IVAdpositions and adpositional phrases*4053

Introduction to part IV

4055

Chapter 32Adpositions: characteristics and classification*4059

Introduction

4062

32.1. Characterization of the category adposition

4062

32.1.1. Properties of adpositions

4063

I. Differences from the other main categories of words

4063

A. The set of adpositions is “closed”

4063

B. The form of adpositions is invariant

4063

C. Adpositions assign case to their nominal complement

4063

D. Adpositions typically express a relation between two elements in the clause

4064

II. Tests to distinguish adpositions

4064

A. Pronominalization

4064

B. R-pronominalization of the complement of the adposition

4066

C. Placement within clauses and noun phrases

4066

D. Modification

4066

E. The directional construction XP met ...!

4067

F. Stress properties

4067

32.1.2. Syntactic uses of adpositional phrases

4068

I. Use as an argument

4068

II. Complementive use

4069

A. General introduction

4069

B. Locational adpositional phrases

4073

C. Directional adpositional phrases

4078

III. Supplementive use

4080

IV. Adverbial use

4081

V. Attributive use

4083

32.2. A syntactic classification of adpositional phrases

4083

32.2.1. General introduction

4084

32.2.2. Prepositions

4087

32.2.3. Postpositions

4091

32.2.4. Intransitive adpositions

4093

I. Intransitive adpositions and verbal particles

4093

II. Particle verbs

4095

III. Differences between intransitive adpositions and verbal particles

4100

A. Position with respect to the verbs in clause-final position

4100

B. PP-over-V

4101

C. Topicalization

4101

D. Progressive aan het + V construction

4102

E. Word formation

4102

F. Co-occurrence restrictions and coordination

4103

G. Conclusion

4104

IV. Particle verbs versus P+V compounds

4105

A. Verb second

4105

B. Clause-final verb clusters and te-infinitives

4106

C. Formation of the past/passive participle

4106

D. Topicalization

4106

E. Stress

4107

F. Conclusion

4107

32.2.5.	Circumpositions	4107
	I. General introduction	4107
	II. Circumpositions versus PP + particle combinations: five tests	4111
	A. Omission of the sequence P + NP	4111
	B. Pronominalization of the sequence P + NP	4111
	C. PP-over-V of the sequence P + NP	4112
	D. Topicalization	4113
	E. Adnominal use	4113
	F. Absolute met -construction	4114
	G. Conclusion	4114
	III. Application of the tests	4116
	A. General overview	4116
	B. Summary	4125
32.2.6.	The relation between the four main classes of adpositions	4126
32.3.	A semantic classification of adpositional phrases	4130
32.3.1.	Spatial adpositions	4131
32.3.1.1.	The semantics of spatial adpositions	4131
	I. (Change of) location and direction	4131
	II. Deictic, inherent and absolute interpretations	4132
	A. The deictic interpretation	4133
	B. The inherent interpretation	4134
	C. The absolute interpretation	4135
	III. Regions and vectors	4136
	IV. The null vector	4138
	V. Paths	4140
32.3.1.2.	Prepositions	4141
	I. Deictic prepositions	4142
	II. Absolute prepositions	4144
	A. Absolute prepositions denoting a (change of) location	4144
	B. Absolute prepositions denoting a direction	4149
	III. Inherent prepositions	4156
	A. Prepositions denoting a set of vectors	4156
	B. Prepositions denoting the null vector	4162
	IV. Summary	4169
32.3.1.3.	Postpositions	4171
	I. Differences between prepositions and postpositions	4171
	II. A classification of postpositions	4173
	A. Postpositions corresponding to deictic prepositions	4173
	B. Postpositions corresponding to absolute prepositions	4173
	C. Postpositions corresponding to inherent prepositions	4174
32.3.1.4.	Circumpositions	4180
	I. General overview	4180
	II. Summary	4190
32.3.1.5.	Intransitive adpositions and verbal particles	4191
	I. Intransitive adpositions	4192
	A. Dressing and personal hygiene	4192
	B. Contextually determinable locations	4194
	C. Material composition	4195
	II. Verbal particles	4196

32.3.1.6.	Appendix: alternative means of expressing spatial relations	4199
	I. Change of location	4199
	A. Denominal verbs prefixed with be-	4200
	B. Deverbal verbs prefixed with be-	4201
	C. Denominal verbs prefixed with ont-	4202
	D. Simple verbs	4203
	II. Direction (path)	4203
	A. Deverbal BE-verbs	4204
	B. Denominal VER-verbs	4205
	C. Simple verbs	4206
	III. Summary	4206
32.3.2.	Temporal adpositions	4206
	I. Prepositions	4206
	A. General discussion	4206
	B. The semantics of temporal prepositions	4210
	II. Postpositions	4213
	III. Circumpositions	4214
32.3.3.	Non-spatial/temporal prepositions	4215
	I. Prepositions that take a reference object	4215
	II. Prepositions that do not take a reference object	4217
	A. Prepositions introducing specific semantic roles	4218
	B. Functional prepositions: prepositions heading PP-complements	4226
	C. Prepositions heading non-spatial/temporal adverbial phrases	4229
32.4.	Borderline cases	4230
	I. Als/dan ‘as/than’	4230
	II. Behalve/uitgezonderd ‘except’	4231
	III. Van die + NP	4232
	IV. Wat-voor + NP ‘what kind of NP’	4232
	V. Adverbial phrases of the form A+P: hardop ‘aloud’	4233
32.5.	Bibliographical notes	4236

Chapter 33Projection of adpositional phrases: Complementation 4241

Introduction	4243
33.1. Nominal complements	4243
33.2. Adpositional complements	4247
33.2.1. Directional van/tot + PP	4248
I. Spatial van -PPs	4248
A. Pronominalization of the PP	4248
B. Placement of the R-word in cases of R-extraction	4249
C. Modification of the PP-complement	4249
D. Apparent cases of van with a PP-complement	4250
II. Temporal van -PPs	4252
III. Spatial tot -PPs	4253
IV. Temporal tot -PPs	4254
V. Other directional adpositions	4255
33.2.2. Voor + PP expressing a goal	4256
33.3. Adjectival complements	4257
33.4. Clausal complements	4258
33.4.1. Finite clauses	4258
I. Clausal complements of object-PPs	4259
II. Adverbial clauses	4260
A. Temporal phrases	4260
B. Non-temporal phrases	4265
33.4.2. Te-infinitival clauses	4265
33.4.3. Conclusion	4267
33.5. Absolute PPs	4267
33.5.1. Absolute met-construction	4267
I. Constituency	4268
II. The predicative part	4268
A. Adpositional predicates	4268
B. Adjectival predicates	4269
C. Nominal predicates	4270
D. Past/present participles and modal infinitives	4270
III. Syntactic uses	4271
A. Attributive use	4272
B. Adverbial use	4273
C. Supplementive use	4274
D. Concluding remarks	4275
IV. The noun phrase part (i.e. the logical SUBJECT)	4275
V. Some syntactic properties	4278
A. Binding	4278
B. Modification	4280
C. R-extraction and R-words	4281
D. Extraposition	4284
E. Coordination	4284
F. Predicate inversion	4285
VI. Conclusion	4285

ToC		5031
33.5.2.	Absolute zonder-construction	4286
33.6.	Bibliographical notes	4288

Chapter 34Projection of adpositional phrases: Modification 4291

Introduction	4292
34.1. Spatial adpositional phrases	4292
34.1.1. General introduction	4292
34.1.2. Locational PPs that denote a set of vectors	4295
I. Modifiers of orientation	4295
II. Modifiers of distance	4301
A. Adjectival modifiers and adverbs	4301
B. Nominal measure phrases	4306
III. Summary	4307
34.1.3. Locational PPs that refer to the null vector	4308
I. Modifiers of orientation and distance	4308
A. Recht/schuin 'straight/diagonal'	4309
B. Rechts/links 'right/left', midden 'middle', voor/achter 'in front/behind', etc.	4309
II. Other kinds of modification?	4314
A. Precies 'exactly' and bijna 'nearly'	4314
B. Modification of in 'in/into' and uit 'out of'	4315
C. Conclusion	4318
34.1.4. Directional adpositional phrases	4318
I. Modifiers of orientation and distance	4319
II. Modifiers of the implied path	4320
A. Nominal measure phrases and adjectival modifiers	4320
B. Helemaal 'completely' and gedeeltelijk 'partly'	4322
C. A brief remark on circumpositional phrases	4324
III. An apparent case of modification	4325
34.1.5. Intransitive adpositions and particles	4326
34.1.6. Summary	4327
34.2. Temporal adpositional phrases	4327
I. Temporal prepositions with a noun phrase as their complement	4328
D. Nominal measure phrases	4329
E. Adpositional phrases	4329
II. Temporal prepositions with a clause as their complement	4330
34.3. Other adpositional phrases	4330
I. Predicative PP idioms	4330
II. The "negative" preposition zonder 'without'	4332
34.4. Comparative/superlative formation	4332
34.5. Some ambiguous constructions	4333
34.6. Bibliographical note	4336

Chapter 35Syntactic uses of adpositional phrases*4337

Introduction

4339

35.1. Adpositional phrases used as arguments

4339

I. Topicalization

4341

II. Scrambling

4341

III. PP-over-V

4342

IV. R-extraction

4342

V. Conclusion

4343

35.2. Predicative use of adpositional phrases

4344

35.2.1. Complementives

4344

35.2.1.1. Spatial constructions

4345

I. General introduction

4345

II. Locational constructions

4347

A. Topicalization

4347

B. A'-scrambling

4347

C. PP-over-V

4349

D. R-extraction

4349

E. Conclusion

4349

III. Directional constructions

4350

A. Topicalization

4350

B. A'-scrambling

4350

C. PP-over-V

4351

D. R-extraction

4351

IV. Summary

4353

35.2.1.2. Non-spatial constructions

4354

I. The copular construction (idioms)

4354

A. Topicalization

4354

B. A'-scrambling

4355

C. PP-over-V

4355

D. R-extraction

4355

II. The resultative construction

4356

A. Topicalization

4356

B. A'-scrambling

4356

C. PP-over-V

4357

D. R-extraction

4358

III. The vinden-construction

4359

A. Topicalization

4360

B. A'-scrambling

4360

C. PP-over-V

4361

D. R-extraction

4361

IV. Summary

4362

35.2.2. Supplementives

4362

35.2.3. Absolute met-construction

4366

35.3. Attributive use of adpositional phrases

4366

35.4.	Adverbial use of adpositional phrases	4367
35.4.1.	Spatial PPs	4367
	I. Topicalization	4368
	II. Word order in the middle field of the clause	4368
	III. PP-over-V	4369
	IV. R-extraction	4370
	V. Conclusion	4371
35.4.2.	Temporal PPs	4371
	I. Topicalization	4371
	II. Word order in the middle field of the clause	4372
	III. PP-over-V	4372
	IV. R-extraction	4372
35.4.3.	Non-spatial/temporal PPs	4373
	I. Topicalization	4373
	II. Word order in the middle field of the clause	4373
	III. PP-over-V	4374
	IV. R-extraction	4374
35.4.4.	Summary	4375
35.5.	Bibliographical notes	4375

Chapter 36R-pronominalization and R-words*4377

Introduction

4379

36.1.	The [-HUMAN] constraint on the formation of pronominal PPs	4383
	I. Referential (personal) R-pronouns	4383
	A. [-HUMAN] pronouns	4384
	B. [+HUMAN] pronouns	4385
	II. Demonstrative R-pronouns	4388
	III. Relative R-pronouns	4388
	IV. Interrogative R-pronouns	4389
	V. Existentially quantified R-pronouns	4390
	VI. Universally quantified R-pronouns	4391
	VII. Summary	4391
36.2.	Lexical restrictions on the formation of pronominal PPs	4391
36.2.1.	Prepositions	4392
	I. Spatial prepositions	4392
	A. Locational prepositional phrases	4392
	B. Directional prepositional phrases	4395
	II. Temporal prepositions	4397
	III. Non-spatial/temporal prepositions	4398
	A. Prepositions introducing a specific semantic role	4398
	B. Functional prepositions (PP-complements)	4401
	C. Prepositions heading non-spatial/temporal adverbial phrases	4401
36.2.2.	Postpositions	4403
36.2.3.	Circumpositions	4406
36.3.	Syntactic restrictions on R-extraction	4411
36.3.1.	General introduction	4411
36.3.2.	The syntactic function of the adpositional phrase	4412
	I. PP-complements	4412
	A. Complements of verbs	4413
	B. Complements of adjectives	4413
	C. Complements of nouns	4414
	D. Complements of adpositions	4415
	II. Complementives	4415
	III. Adverbial adpositional phrases	4417
	A. Adverbially versus predicatively used locational phrases	4417
	B. Temporal prepositions	4418
	C. Other cases	4418
36.3.3.	Cases of obligatory R-extraction	4418
36.3.4.	The position of stranded prepositions	4419
	I. PP-complements of verbs	4420
	II. Prepositions that introduce a specific semantic role	4422
	III. Complementives	4422
	IV. Multiple stranded prepositions	4425
	V. Problems for a purely syntactic analysis	4425
36.4.	Idiomatic pronominal PPs	4427

36.5.	Appendix: The syntax of R-words	4428
36.5.1.	Weak and strong R-words	4429
36.5.2.	Co-occurrence of R-words	4433
	I. Co-occurrence of multiple weak R-words	4433
	A. Embedded clauses	4433
	B. Main clauses	4434
	C. Conclusion	4436
	II. Co-occurrence of multiple strong R-words	4436
	III. Co-occurrence of weak and strong R-words	4438
	IV. Wh -movement in multiple R-word constructions	4439
	A. Wh -movement in double R-word constructions	4439
	B. Wh -movement of [-R] phrases across R-words	4443
	V. Co-occurrence of multiple R-words with the same function	4444
	A. Co-occurrence of multiple pronominal PPs	4445
	B. Co-occurrence of multiple locational pro-forms	4447
	C. Multiple occurrences of quantitative er	4447
	VI. Summary	4448
36.5.3.	Conflation of functions of er	4450
	I. Conflation of two or more different functions of er	4450
	II. Conflation of two similar functions of er	4455
	A. Conflation of two pronominal R-words	4455
	B. Conflation of two occurrences of quantitative er	4457
	III. Summary	4458
36.6.	Bibliographical notes	4459
	Glossary (part IV)	4463
	References (part IV)	4493

PART V
Main-clause external elements, coordination and ellipsis

4501

Introduction to part V	4503
I. Main-clause external elements (Chapter 37)	4503
II. Coordination (Chapter 38)	4504
III. Ellipsis (Chapter 39)	4504

Chapter 37Main-clause external elements*4507*Introduction*4508

37.1.	Pragmatic markers	4510
	I. Addressing and drawing attention	4511
	II. Organization of the discourse	4512
	A. Text-connective markers	4512
	B. Discourse markers	4513
	III. Responding	4514
	IV. Expressing emotional involvement	4517
	V. Conclusion	4518
37.2.	Left dislocation	4519
	I. General properties	4519
	II. The left-dislocated element	4523
	III. The resumptive element	4530
	IV. Wh -movement	4533
	V. Island sensitivity	4534
	VI. Pied piping and stranding	4535
	VII. Topicalization versus contrastive left dislocation	4536
	VIII. Left-dislocation of remnant VPs	4540
	IX. Analyses of contrastive left dislocation	4541
37.3.	Right dislocation	4545
	I. A brief comparison between left and right dislocation	4547
	II. Restrictions on right-dislocated phrases	4549
	A. Categorical restrictions	4549
	B. Right-dislocated phrases provide additional information	4550
	C. The information-structural status of right-dislocated phrases	4552
	III. Right dislocation versus extraposition	4553
	A. Nominal arguments	4553
	B. Prepositional (indirect) objects	4555
	C. Adverbial phrases that allow extraposition	4556
	D. Phrases that can only occur in preverbal position	4558
	E. Conclusion	4559
	IV. Connectivity effects	4560
	V. Island sensitivity	4561
	VI. Word-order restrictions	4563
	VII. Analyses of RD	4564
37.4.	Bibliographical notes	4567

Chapter 38

Coordination

4571

Introduction

4573

38.1. General properties

4573

- I. Syntactic function 4573
- II. Monosyndetic, polysyndetic and asyndetic coordinate structures 4574
- III. Two closed classes: simple and correlative coordinators 4575
- IV. Meaning contribution of coordinators 4576
 - A. Some basic notions from propositional calculus 4577
 - B. Coordination of clauses: conjunction and disjunction 4578
 - C. Coordination of predicative and adverbial phrases: intersection and union 4582
 - D. Coordination of noun phrases: distributive and cumulative readings 4595
 - E. Unexpected readings of predicate conjunction with en 'and' 4600
 - F. Concluding remarks 4605
- V. Prosodic restrictions on coordinands 4606
- VI. Pragmatic restrictions on coordinands 4606
- VII. Distinguishing coordinators from other elements 4607
 - A. Coordinators versus subordinators 4608
 - B. Coordinators versus conjunctive adverbials 4610
 - C. The meaning of coordinators, subordinators and conjunctive adverbials 4612

38.2. Monosyndetic, polysyndetic and asyndetic coordination

4612

- I. Monosyndetic and asyndetic coordination 4613
 - A. Asyndetic coordinate structures do not occur clause-internally 4614
 - B. Potential counterexamples 4616
 - C. Asyndetically linked clauses 4620
- II. Monosyndetic and polysyndetic coordinate structures 4622
- III. A note on correlative coordinators 4623

38.3. Coordinands

4624

- I. Co-occurrence restrictions 4625
 - A. The coordinands have the same syntactic function 4626
 - B. The coordinands have the same syntactic distribution 4629
 - C. Predicative coordinands: the individual/stage-level distinction 4635
 - D. Other restrictions 4636
- II. Coordinate structure constraint and across-the-board movement 4637
 - A. Coordinate structure constraint 4638
 - B. An apparent counterexample: split coordination 4639
 - C. More potential counterexamples: asymmetric coordination 4644
 - D. Across-the-board movement 4646
- III. Embedding/recursivity 4656
 - A. Associativity and commutativity of conjunction and disjunction 4657
 - B. Hierarchically ordered coordinate structures 4660
 - C. Hierarchical coordinate structures: word order and meaning 4661
 - D. Hierarchical coordinate structures and prosody 4663
 - E. Ambiguities in triadic coordinate structures with en 'and' 4664
 - F. Ambiguities in larger polyadic coordinate structures with en 'and' 4666
 - G. A potential problem: polyadic coordinate structures with noch 'nor' 4669
- IV. Are coordinate structures binary branching? 4674

38.4.	Coordinators	4678
38.4.1.	Simple coordinators	4680
	I. The simplex coordinator en 'and'	4681
	A. Restrictions on the coordinands	4681
	B. Agreement with nominal coordinands with "mixed" feature specifications	4690
	C. Special interpretations: asymmetric conjunction	4703
	D. Special uses	4711
	II. The simplex coordinator of 'or'	4719
	A. Restrictions on the coordinands	4719
	B. Agreement with nominal coordinands with "mixed" feature specifications	4725
	C. Special interpretations	4728
	D. Balanced ordination (balansschikking)	4738
	E. Other special uses	4749
	III. The simplex coordinator noch 'nor'	4752
	A. Restrictions on the coordinands	4753
	B. Agreement with nominal coordinands with "mixed" feature specifications	4756
	C. Meaning/interpretation	4757
	IV. The simplex coordinator maar 'but'	4757
	A. Restrictions on the coordinands	4757
	B. Subject-verb agreement	4762
	C. Meaning/interpretation	4765
	D. Special uses	4768
	V. The simplex coordinators want 'because' and dus 'so'	4769
38.4.2.	Correlative coordinators	4773
	I. General discussion	4774
	A. Correlative coordinators versus correlative adverbials	4774
	B. Correlative coordinators versus correlative adverbial phrases	4777
	C. Conclusion	4779
	II. The four most frequent forms	4780
	A. En ... en ... 'and ... and ...'	4780
	B. Zowel ... als ... 'both ... and ...'	4785
	C. Of ... of ... 'either ... or ...'	4788
	D. Noch ... noch ... 'neither ... nor ...'	4790
	III. The syntactic representation of correlative coordinators	4791
	A. Complex-head analysis	4792
	B. Double-head analyses	4796
	C. The initial part of a correlative coordinate structure is a focus particle	4799
38.5.	Bibliographical notes	4808

Chapter 39Ellipsis in coordinate structures*4815

Introduction

4816

39.1. Conjunction Reduction

4817

I. Differences between backward and forward conjunction reduction

4819

II. Arguments against forward conjunction reduction

4821

III. Properties of backward conjunction reduction

4825

IV. Backward conjunction reduction is not a syntactic rule

4828

V. Combinations of forward and backward conjunction reduction

4829

VI. A residual problem: "shared" main-clause initial constituents

4831

A. Can lexical heads be coordinated?

4832

B. Can intermediate projections be coordinated?

4834

C. Empty subject pronouns?

4837

39.2. Gapping

4840

I. A brief characterization of gapping

4840

A. Restrictions on the coordinator

4840

B. The remnants of gapping are contrastively focused

4841

C. Gapping elides a finite verb; it targets clausal coordinands only

4842

D. The elided material need not be a single constituent

4843

E. Recoverability and maximization condition on elision

4844

F. Gapping can affect more than one target clause

4845

G. The remnants of gapping are prototypically major phrases

4846

H. The number of remnants of gapping

4848

II. The syntactic restrictions on gapping

4849

A. Restrictions on the antecedent and the target clause

4850

B. The clausemate restriction on gapping

4857

C. Potential counterexamples to the clausemate restriction

4864

D. Gapping is syntactic in nature

4870

E. Potentially problematic cases related to R-words

4878

39.3. Combining conjunction reduction and gapping

4880

39.4. Gapping in subordinate structures?

4884

39.4.1. Four alleged borderline cases

4886

I. Comparative als 'as' and dan 'than'

4886

II. Behalve 'except/besides'

4890

A. The status of the behalve-phrase

4891

B. Case marking of pronouns following behalve

4893

C. Phrases following behalve are not categorically restricted

4895

D. Nominal phrases following behalve cannot be weak pronouns

4897

E. Two residual issues

4897

III. In plaats van 'instead of'

4899

IV. Laat staan 'let alone'

4900

39.4.2. A note on the semantic side of gapping

4901

39.4.3. Conclusion and a potential problem

4903

39.5. Bibliographical notes

4905

Glossary (part V)	4911
References (part V)	4939

PART VI
Appendices to SoD	4951
Appendix I: Complete ToC	4953
Appendix II: Complete subject index	5043
Appendix III: Complete references	5105